- The problem of how this famous Breviary was executed has now been found, through the researches made by Francesco Zanotto. The artists who took part in the work are known; they lived about the time of the pontificate of Sixtus IV., who occupied the Papal Chair from 1471 to 1484. The Breviary was reserved exclusively for the use of the Franciscan order, includes the feasts introduced by this Pontiff, and is thus absolutely similar to the one printed in Rome in 1477.
- Only 500 copies of this English Edition published. This copy contains, in a separate envelope, the 4 facsimiles in gold and colours, issued afterwards.
