NOTICE.

SURGEONS' HALL, EDINBURGH,
31st October 1840.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF EDINBURGH, in revising from time to time their regulations respecting the course of study to be followed by Candidates for their diploma, have been uniformly anxious to extend and improve the education of those who receive that testimonial of qualification, so as more effectually to secure their being competent to perform their professional duties with credit to themselves and advantage to the public.

It will be obvious to all who consider the extended and complicated nature of Medical Science, that much of the success of the student, in the prosecution of its various branches, must depend upon the previous cultivation of his mental faculties ; and that it is consequently of the utmost importance, both as regards the interest of the public, and the future comfort and respectability of the practitioner, that all who apply to the study of Surgery should have previously received a liberal education. The College have enacted some regulations for securing this object ; and they confidently trust, that Medical Practitioners in every part of the country will be disposed to second their endeavours, by recommending to the young men who may be placed under their care, or who may apply to them for advice, the study of the Latin, Greek, French, German, and Italian Languages ; and of Logic, Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy ; as the best preparative for entering upon a course of medical and surgical education. And they would strongly urge their own Fellows, as well as all other practitioners, not to take any young man as an apprentice, until he shall have gone through such a preliminary course.

Moreover, as the profession of Surgery is a practical art, it must be obvious that skill in its exercise cannot be acquired without actual opportunities of becoming familiar with the phenomena of diseases, and with the effects of remedies. And although the College have not considered it advisable to prescribe the serving of an apprenticeship as an indispensable part of the education of candidates for their diploma, they have no hesitation in expressing their conviction, that Students of Surgery cannot fail to derive much advantage from being placed under the superintendence of competent and conscientious masters, both as respects the prosecution of their professional studies, and the acquisition of practical skill in the treatment of diseases. The College strongly recommend to all masters, to give directions to their apprentices as to the classes which they ought to attend, and the books which they ought to read ; to subject them to occasional examination, with a view to ascertain their progress in the different branches of their education ; and to explain, as frequently and as fully as possible, the nature of the cases entrusted to their care, and the principles on which the treatment ought to be conducted.

The College have marked, with much satisfaction, a gradual increase in the attainments of those who present themselves for examination at Surgeons' Hall : and they have reason to think that the additions made to the course of study, of late years, have elevated the character of this School of Medicine. The Examinators reported to the College on a recent occasion, that the Candidates, who now appear before them, are far better informed than at any former period ; that fewer, consequently, require to be remitted to their studies ; and that those who receive the Diploma have higher claims to the confidence of the public.

CHAP. I.—SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE, AND QUALIFICATIONS OF TEACHERS.

1. EVERY candidate for a Surgical diploma must have followed the course of study afterwards to be specified, in a University ; or at the seat of an Established School of Medicine, as defined below ; or in a Provincial School specially recognised by the College.

2. Under the title Established School of Medicine, are comprehended all places in this kingdom where Diplomas in Surgery are granted, and such Foreign Schools as are acknowledged by the constituted authorities of the countries in which they exist.

3. The extent and period of study allowed to be gone through at a Provincial School, will be regulated by the means and facility of study which the College receive evidence of its affording ; but the Lectures delivered at a Provincial School will only be held as qualifying for one year's course of study, unless specially recognised for more.

4. In Edinburgh, the lectures to be attended as part of the course of study, shall be delivered by Professors in the University, by Resident Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians, or by Fellows of the Royal College of Surgeons ; and elsewhere, by Professors of Universities, by Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, by Fellows or Licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London, and of the King's and Queen's College of Physicians of Ireland ; by Fellows of the Royal Colleges of Surgeons of Edinburgh, London, and Dublin, and of the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow ; and by persons holding a Medical Degree or Surgical Diploma, whose courses of lectures have been recognised by the College on special application.*

5. The College will not recognise any course of lectures delivered subsequently to 1st May 1839, by a Professor or Teacher who lectures during the same session, upon more than one of the branches of instruction included in their curriculum : nor will they recognise any course of lectures delivered by a Professor or Teacher who, in addition to the said course, lectures upon a branch of instruction, medical or general, not included in the curriculum, unless such Professor or Teacher shall have obtained special leave from the College to do so.

* The only lectures excepted from this law, are those on Mechanical Philosophy and on Chemistry. The former may be delivered by a Professor in a University, a Lecturer in a Public Institution, or a Teacher specially recognised by the College : and the latter by persons not medical, if recognised by the College on special application.

6. Notwithstanding the above regulation, the teaching of the following branches may be conjoined, without disqualification being incurred, viz :—

ANATOMY and PRACTICAL ANATOMY ;
 CHEMISTRY and PRACTICAL CHEMISTRY ;
 PRACTICE OF MEDICINE and CLINICAL MEDICINE ;
 PRACTICE OF SURGERY and CLINICAL SURGERY ;
 MATHEMATICS and MECHANICAL PHILOSOPHY.

And, for the present, CLINICAL MEDICINE or CLINICAL SURGERY may be taught in conjunction with any one of the other courses of education prescribed by the Curriculum, by a Physician or Surgeon qualified according to the regulations of the College, and attached to a Public Hospital of the size which these regulations prescribe.*

CHAP. II.—COURSE OF STUDY.

1. Preliminary Instruction.—Every candidate for the diploma of the Royal College, must, either previously to, or during his medical education, have received regular instruction in the Elements of Mathematics ; and must have subsequently attended a course of Mechanical Philosophy of at least three months' duration, and of not fewer than sixty lectures.

* In making the above concession respecting Clinical Medicine and Surgery, the College wish it be understood that this is done rather in consideration of the present state and arrangements of existing schools, than from their entertaining any doubt that the teaching of either of these branches would afford ample occupation for a teacher, in addition to his hospital duties.

2. Professional Instruction.—The candidate must have been engaged in attending the following separate and distinct courses of lectures during a period of not less than twenty-seven months ; in which must have been included three Winter Sessions, of six months' duration each.

* This is required of every candidate who has not served an apprenticeship to a regularly licensed Medical Practitioner, keeping a Laboratory for the dispensing of Medicines. It must be attended, subsequently to attendance on Chemistry and Materia Medica, at the Laboratory of a Surgeon or Apothecary ; or of a Chemist and Druggist recognised by the College on special application ; or of a Public Hospital or Dispensary ; and the candidate must produce evidence that he has been engaged in compounding and dispensing Medicines.

† The course of Military Surgery must be delivered by a Professor of that branch in a University ; or by a Lecturer, who, in addition to the other requisite qualifications, has served in the Medical Department of the Army or Navy ; and the course must be of at least six months' duration, and comprehend not fewer than sixty lectures.

§ Clinical Medicine and Clinical Surgery cannot be attended at the same time. In these courses, in addition to regular lectures delivered twice a-week, there must be a third weekly meeting for clinical instruction, which may be given in the way of examination, or conversation.

3. The six months' courses delivered in Edinburgh must consist of not fewer than 110 lectures, with the exception of Clinical Medicine, Clinical Surgery, and Military Surgery. The three months' courses must consist of not fewer than sixty lectures. Two London courses of three months each, on any of the above subjects, will be taken as equivalent to one six months' course.

4. The candidate must also have attended for twenty-one months a Public General Hospital, containing at least eighty beds.*

6. The College strongly recommend to students to avail themselves of any opportunities which they may possess, of attending lectures on Botany, Natural History, Comparative Anatomy, and Pathological Anatomy, in addition to the courses of lectures which are absolutely required by the above regulations.

* By this mode of expression the College mean it to be understood, that the average number of patients under treatment in such Hospital shall not be less than eighty.

CHAP. III.—REGISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES.

1. A book shall be kept in the Hall of the College, for the Registration, at stated times, of all medical students who may apply. In this book all Edinburgh students, who intend to apply for the diploma of the College, shall enter their names and the classes which they attend, whether under Professors in the University, or under other qualified Teachers.

2. The registration shall be conducted by the Conservator of the Museum, or by a substitute for whom he shall be responsible. He shall enter in separate columns, 1st, The name of each individual; 2d, The Medical Classes, Hospitals, and Dispensaries, attended by each during the current season; 3d, The names of his Teachers. He shall register such only as apply personally to him, shall examine all the Tickets produced by each individual, and shall not register any classes for which Tickets are not produced.

3. At the close of each session, students shall produce to the Registrar the certificates of attendance they may have received from their respective Teachers (See Appendix); the terms of which shall be entered in the registration-book.

4. Each student shall pay annually, on his first registration for the year, the sum of five shillings; and shall be provided with a ticket of admission to the Museum.

5. The book shall be closed for the registration of the winter classes on the 30th of November in each year; and of the summer or intermediate classes at the end of the second week from their commencement.

6. When a student is prevented by sickness, or other unavoidable cause, from complying with the above regulations, he shall, as soon as the case admits, present a statement of the circumstances, with proper evidence, to the Conservator, to be laid by him before the Registration Committee, who shall report their opinion to the College; and if the application be sustained, the individual so applying shall be enrolled in the usual manner.

7. All students, whose classes are thus registered, shall be entitled to receive from the Conservator a Certificate of their course of study, attested by his signature ; but no class shall be included in this certificate unless actual attendance thereon have been previously attested by the Professor or Lecturer. No fee is payable for this certificate.

8. Such certificates will be required from all candidates for Surgical diplomas, in regard to that part of their medical education which they may have received at Edinburgh. Similar certificates from any other school in which registration-books are kept, will be received, in regard to such portions of the course of study as the certificates may embrace. Candidates educated at Schools where no registration-books are kept, must produce certificates from the respective Professors or Lecturers, both of their having entered to their several classes at an early period of the course, and also of their having attended these classes with due regularity. And in the case of Practical Anatomy, the certificate must express that the candidate has, during the course of his attendance, been actually engaged in the dissection of the human body, under the personal superintendence of the professor or teacher.

LECTURERS IN EDINBURGH.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF EDINBURGH have enacted—

II. That he shall do this, by calling the name of each pupil at least once a-week, and entering in a regular roll-book the presence or absence of each individual,—the students, of course, being kept in ignorance of the particular days on which this is to be done.

III. That the said roll-book shall be kept according to a form prescribed by the College ; shall also be carefully preserved ; and shall be at all times accessible to the President, Ex-President, and Treasurer of the College, on whom it shall be incumbent to examine the roll-book of each class at least once during every session, before the termination of the third weeks in April and July respectively.

IV. That, in granting Certificates of attendance on their classes, the Private Lecturers shall use the annexed form, filling up the blanks with words at length, and on no account employing figures:—

Edinburgh,

I hereby certify, that Mr _____ attended my course of lectures on _____ commencing on _____ and terminating on _____ times during the session ; and that Mr _____ was present on _____ of these occasions.

(Signed)

V. That, when a student's certificate of attendance bears that he has been more than five times absent in a six months' course, or more than thrice in a three months' course, when the roll of his class was called, the President shall intimate this at the foot of that student's letter to the Examinators, specifying the branch or branches on which the defective attendance has been given, in order that he may be particularly examined upon them. But if, on the other hand, a student's certificate of attendance bears that he has been absent more than eight times in a six months' course, or more than four times in a three months' course, he shall not be admitted to examination at all, until he has attended another course of lectures on every such department of study.

VI. That when a student's absence has been occasioned by sickness, or any other unavoidable cause, such cause shall be stated in the certificate of attendance granted by the Lecturer ; and the President and Council of the College shall decide whether the student shall or shall not be required to attend another course of such lectures, before presenting himself for examination.

VII. That the above Regulations shall be imperative on every Private Lecturer at this School of Medicine, whose lectures are recognised by the College ; and it is hereby notified, that, in the event of its being ascertained that any Lecturer evades the faithful enforcement thereof, the College will not hesitate to withdraw their recognition of his course of Lectures.
