City of Sheffield.

At a MEETING of the COUNCIL of the CITY OF SHEFFIELD, held in the COUNCIL CHAMBER, in the TOWN HALL, in SHEFFIELD, on WEDNESDAY, the Eleventh day of July, 1923, pursuant to Notice duly given and Summonses duly served.

WE, The Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Sheffield, acting by the Council, being now duly met and assembled together, do hereby, under and by virtue and in pursuance of the provisions of The Public Health Act, 1875, make, order and ordain the following Bye-Laws for the prevention of nuisances arising from filth, and for the prevention of the keeping of swine on any premises so as to be injurious to health.

1. Throughout these Bye-Laws the expression "the Council" means the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Sheffield acting by the Council.

2. The occupier of any premises shall not keep any swine or deposit any swine's dung within 40 feet from any building used wholly or partly for human habitation, or as a school, place of public worship or public resort or public assembly, or in which any person is employed in any manufacture, trade or business. Provided that this Bye-Law shall apply only within so much of the City as is described in the Schedule hereto.

3. The occupier of any premises shall not keep any swine, or deposit any dung or filth of any description arising from the keeping of swine in such a situation or in such a manner as to pollute any water supplied for use, or used, or likely to be used, by man for consumption or drinking or for domestic purposes or for manufacturing drinks or foods for the use of man, or any water used or likely to be used in any dairy.

4. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall so far as may be necessary to prevent the absorption of any filth or offensive matter cause the walls of the building or sty in which such swine are kept to be constructed of concrete or stone or brick in cement mortar or of other suitable materials and to be faced with cement or other non-absorbent material so as to offer a smooth, hard and impervious surface.

Provided always that this Bye-Law shall not apply to any building or sty used for the keeping of swine at the date of the confirmation of these Bye-Laws, until the expiration of two years from such date.

Provided further that this Bye-Law shall apply only within so much of the City as is described in the Schedule hereto.

5. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall cause the floor of any building or sty in which such swine are kept to be constructed of hard cement concrete not less than 4 inches in thickness or of suitable bricks placed on edge and grouted in with cement or of other hard and impervious material, smooth and even on the surface, laid to a fall of not less than one in sixty to a properly constructed channel or grip of the like material, of such capacity as to receive and carry away all drainage, swill, water or other liquid from the floor of the building or sty. He shall cause such channel or grip to discharge over a properly trapped gully situate in the open air and communicating with a drain having a proper catchpit so constructed as to retain the solids and connected with a sewer or sufficient cesspool.

Provided always that this Bye-law shall not apply to any building or sty used for the keeping of swine at the date of the confirmation of these Bye-laws, until the expiration of two years from such date.

6. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon swine may be kept shall keep any building or sty in which such swine are kept sufficiently lighted and ventilated.

7. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall keep any building or sty in which such swine are kept in proper order and repair so as to prevent the absorption therein of filth or offensive matter.

8. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall cause every part of the building or sty in which such swine are kept and the feeding troughs used therein to be thoroughly cleansed from time to time as often as may be requisite, and the floor and feeding troughs at least once daily.

9. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall cause the interior of every building in which such swine are kept to be washed with lime wash, not less frequently than four times in each year, namely, in January, April, July and October. Provided that this requirement shall not apply to any part for which limewashing is unsuitable or inexpedient and which may be otherwise properly cleansed.

10. Every occupier of a building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall provide in a suitable position in connection with the building or sty in which such swine are kept, a suitable receptacle for dung, manure, soil, filth or other offensive or noxious matter which may from time to time be produced in the keeping of any such swine in such building or sty. He shall cause such receptacle to be constructed so that the bottom or floor thereof shall not in any case be less than three inches above the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such receptacle. He shall cause such receptacle to be constructed in such a manner and with such durable and impervious materials and to be maintained at all times in such a condition as to prevent any escape of the contents thereof or any soakage therefrom into the ground or into the wall of any building.

He shall once at least in every week remove or cause to be removed from such receptacle all dung, manure, soil, filth or other offensive or noxious matter produced in or upon such building or sty and deposited in such receptacle.

11. The occupier of any building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept who uses or causes to be used any apparatus for the boiling or steaming of pig wash or other food for pigs shall adopt the best practicable means for preventing injury to health from effluvia arising from such boiling or steaming.

12. Every occupier of any building or premises wherein or whereon any swine may be kept shall cause every trough or other receptacle used for the feeding of any swine to be kept at all times in good order and condition.

He shall not newly use, or cause or suffer to be newly used, for the feeding of any swine, any trough or receptacle which is not properly constructed of galvanised iron or other non-absorbent material.

13. A person shall not keep swine in any building unless such building be constructed in such a manner and in such a position as to afford ready means of access to such building for the purpose of cleansing the same, and of removing dung or other filth therefrom and in such a manner, and in such a position as to admit of dung and other filth being removed from such building and from the premises to which such building belongs without being carried through any dwelling-house.

14. Every person who shall offend against any of the foregoing Bye-laws shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of Five Pounds, and in case of a continuing offence to a further penalty of forty shillings for each day after written notice of the offence from the Council.

Provided nevertheless that the Justices or Court before whom any complaint may be made or any proceedings may be taken in respect of such offence may, if they think fit, adjudge the payment, as a penalty, of any sum less than the full amount of the penalty imposed by this Bye-law.
