Art for Corporate and Healthcare
Environments

Since the inception of Picture Source in 1975, we have seen art in the workplace evolve from a finishing touch to an integral part of interior design as it relates to function and efficiency.

The art you select for your office plays a greater role than simply adding color or covering your walls. It helps communicate your company's image to your clients. For example, a geometric abstract will convey a hi-tech feel suited for an engineering firm. Artwork can also boost the morale of your staff and provide a relief from stress.

In the healthcare industry, the role of artwork is even more specific. The appropriate selection of art, with consideration for color and subject matter, is integral in creating a relaxing and positive environment. The aesthetic escape that a picture offers can also reduce the stress levels of physicians and staff.

Healthcare researchers have documented the value of art as therapy over the last few years. Art has been proven to provide comfort and aid in the healing process. Through years of experience placing artwork in healthcare facilities we have found, and research concurs, that landscape, floral and human interest art has the best reception among residents and patients.

The framed pictures shown in this catalog have been carefully chosen by our corporate and healthcare specialists to meet the needs of both corporations and the healthcare industry. Where your art needs are highly specialized, our staff is available to conduct searches for special projects. Please call for your personalized consultation.
