WILLIAM LILLY. THE

THE
 L I F E
 O F
 W I L L I A M L I L L Y,
 Student in Astrology.

Wrote by himself in the 66th Year of his Age, at Hersham in the Parish of Walton upon Thames in the County of Surrey.

Propria Manu.

 Was born in the County of Leicester,
 in an obscure Town, in the North- West Borders thereof call'd Diseworth, seven Miles South of the Town of Derby, one Mile from Castle-Donning- ton, a Town of great Rudeness, wherein it is not remembred that any of the Farmers thereof did ever educate any of their Sons to Learning, only my Grandfather sent his younger
 B Son

Son to Cambridge, whose Name was Robert Lilly, and died, Vicar of Cambden in Gloucestershire about 1640.

The Town of Diseworth did formerly belong unto the Lord Seagrave, for there is one Record in the Hands of my Cousin Melborn Williamson, which mentions one Acre of Land abutting North upon the Gates of the Lord Seagrave; and there is one Close, called Hall-Close, wherein the Ruins of some ancient Buildings appear, and particularly where the Dove-house stood; and there is also the Ruins of decay'd Fish-ponds, and other Out-houses. This Town came at length to be the Inheritance of Margaret Countess of Richmond, Mother of Henry VII. Which Margaret gave this Town and Lordship of Diseworth unto Christ's-College in Cambridge, the Master and Fellows whereof have ever since, and at present, enjoy and possess it.

In the Church of this Town there is but one Monument, and that is a white Marble Stone, now almost broken to Pieces, which was placed there by Robert Lilly, my Grandfather, in Memory of Jane his Wife, the Daughter of Mr. Poole of Dalby in the same County, a Family now quite extinguish'd. My Grandmother's Brother was Mr. Henry Poole, one of the Knights of Rhodes, or Templars, who being a Soldier in Rhodes at the taking thereof by Solyman the Magnificent, and escaping with his Life came afterwards to England, and married the Lady Parron or Perham of Oxfordshire, and was called, during his Life, Sir Henry Poole. William Poole the Astrologer knew him very well, and remembers him to have been a very tall Person, and reputed of great Strength in his younger Years.

The Impropriation of this Town of Diseworth was formerly the Inheritance of three Sisters, whereof two became Votaries; one in the Nunnery of Langly in the Parish of Diseworth, valued at the Suppression, I mean the whole Nunnery at 32 Pounds per Annum, and this Sister's Part is yet enjoyed by the Family of the Graves, who now, and for some Years past, have the Enjoyment and Possession of all the Lands formerly belonging to the Nunnery in the Parish of Difeworth, and are at present of the yearly Value of 350 Pounds per Annum. One of the Sisters gave her Part of the great Tythes unto a Religious House in Bredon upon the Hill; and as the Inhabitants report, became a religious Person afterwards.

The third Sister married, and her Part of the Tythes in succeeding Ages became the Earl of Huntingdon's, who not many Years since sold it to one of his Servants.

The Donation of the Vicaridge is in the Gift of the Graves of Langly, unto whom they pay yearly, I mean unto the Vicar, as I am inform'd, six Pounds per Annum. Very lately some charitable Citizens have purchased one Third Portion of the Tythes, and given it for a Maintenance of a preaching Minister, and it is now of the Value of about 50 Pounds per Annum.

There have been two Hermitages in this Parish; the last Hermit was well remembred by one Thomas Cooke, a very ancient Inhabitant, who in my younger Years acquainted me therewith.

This Town of Difeworth is divided into three Parishes; one Part belongs unto Lockington, in which Part standeth my Father's House over-against the West-end of the Steeple, in which I was born: Some other Farms are in the Parish of Bredon, the rest in the Parish of Difeworth.

In this Town, but in the Parish of Lockington, was I born, the first Day of May, 1602.

My Father's Name was William Lilly, Son of Robert, the Son of Robert, the Son of Rowland, &c. My Mother was Alice the Daughter of Edward

Barham of Fiskerton-Mills in Nottinghamshire, two Miles from Newark upon Trent : This Edward Barham was born in Norwich, and well remembered the Rebellion of Kett the Tanner in the Days of Edward VI.

Our Family have continued many Ages in this Town as Yeomen ; besides the Farm my Father and his Ancestors lived in, both my Father and Grandfather had much free Land, and many Houses in the Town, not belonging to the College, as the Farm wherein they were all born doth, and is now at this present of the Value of 40 Pounds per Annum, and in Possession of my Brother's Son ; but the Free-hold Land and Houses, formerly purchased by my Ancestors, were all sold by my Grandfather and Father ; so that now our Family depend wholly upon a College Lease. Of my Infancy I can speak little, only I do remember, that in the fourth Year of my Age I had the Measles.

I was, during my Minority, put to learn at such Schools, and of such Masters, as the Rudeness of the Place and Country afforded ; my Mother intending I should be a Scholar from my Infancy, seeing my Father's Backslidings in the World, and no Hopes by plain Husbandry to recruit a decay'd Estate ; therefore upon Trinity Tuesday 1613, my Father had me to Ashby de la Zouch, to be instructed by one Mr. John Brinsley ; one, in those Times, of great Abilities for Instruction of Youth in the Latin and Greek Tongues ; he was very severe in his Life and Conversation, and did breed up many Scholars for the Universities : In Religion he was a strict Puritan, not conformable wholly to the Ceremonies of the Church of England. In this Town of Ashby de la Zouch for many Years together, Mr. Arthur Hildersham exercised his Ministry at my being there ; and all the while I continued at Ashby, he was silenced.

This

This is that famous Hilderham, who left behind him a Commentary on the 51st Psalms; as also many Sermons upon the 4th of John, both which are printed: He was an excellent Textuary of exemplary Life, pleasant in Discourse, a strong Enemy to the Brownists, and dissented not from the Church of England in any Article of Faith, but only about wearing the Surplice, baptizing with the Cross, and kneeling at the Sacrament; most of the People of the Town were directed by his Judgment, and so continued, and yet do continue Presbyterianly affected; for when the Lord of Loughborough in 1642, 1643, 1644, and 1645, had his Garrison in that Town, if by chance at any time any Troops of Horse had lodged within the Town, though they came late at Night to their Quarters; yet would one or other of the Town presently give Sir John Gell of Derby notice, so that 'ere next Morning most of his Majesty's Troops were seized in their Lodgings, which moved the Lord of Loughborough merrily to say, there was not a Fart let in Ashby but it was presently carried to Derby.

The several Authors I there learned were these, viz. Sententiae Pueriles, Cato, Corderius, Æsop's Fables, Tully's Offices, Ovid de Tristibus; lastly, Virgil, then Horace; as also Camden's Greek Grammar, Theognis and Homer's Iliads: I was only entred into Udall's Hebrew Grammar; he never taught Logick, but often would say it was fit to be learned in the Universities.

In the 14th Year of my Age, by a fellow Scholar of swarth, black Complexion, I had like to have my right Eye beaten out as we were at play; the same Year, about Michaelmas, I got a Surfeit, and thereupon a Fever, by eating Beech-Nuts.

In the 16th Year of my Age I was exceedingly troubled in my Dreams concerning my Salvation and Damnation, and also concerning the Safety and Destruction of the Souls of my Father and Mother; in the Nights I frequently wept, prayed and mourned, for fear my Sins might offend God.

In the 17th Year of my Age my Mother died.

In the 18th Year of my Age my Master Brinsley was enforced from keeping School, being persecuted by the Bishop's Officers, he came to London, and then lectured in London, where he afterwards died. In this Year, by reason of my Father's Poverty, I was also enforced to leave School, and so came to my Father's House, where I lived in much Penury for one Year, and taught School one Quarter of a Year, until God's Providence provided better for me.

For the two last Years of my being at School, I was of the highest Form in the School, and chiefest of that Form; I could then speak Latin as well as English; could make Extempore Verses upon any Theme; all Kinds of Verses, Hexameter, Pentameter, Phaleuciacks, Iambicks, Sapphicks, &c. so that if any Scholars from remote Schools came to dispute, I was Ringleader to dispute with them; I could cap Verses, &c. If any Minister came to examine us, I was brought forth against him, nor would I argue with him unless in the Latin Tongue, which I found few of them could well speak without breaking Priscian's Head; which if once they did, I would complain to my Master, Non bene intelligit Linguam Latinam, nec prorsus loquitur. In the Derivation of Words I found most of them defective, nor indeed were any of them good Grammarians: all and every of those Scholars who were of my Form and standing, went to Cambridge and proved excellent Divines, only poor I, William Lilly, was not

not so happy; Fortune then frowning upon my Father's present Condition, he not in any Capacity to maintain me at the University.

Of the Manner how I came unto London.

Worthy Sir, I take much delight to recount unto you, even all and every Circumstance of my Life, whether good, moderate, or evil; Deo Gloria.

My Father had one Samuel Smatty for his Attorney, unto whom I went sundry times with Letters, who perceiving I was a Scholar, and that I lived miserably in the Country, losing my time, nor any ways likely to do better, if I continued there; pitying my Condition, he sent Word for me to come and speak with him, and told me that he had lately been at London, where there was a Gentleman wanted a Youth, to attend him and his Wife, who could write, &c.

I acquainted my Father with it, who was very willing to be rid of me, for I could not work, drive the Plough, or endure any Country Labour; my Father oft wou'd say, I was good for nothing.

I had only 20 Shillings, and no more, to buy me a new Suit, Hose, Doublet, &c. my Doublet was Fustian: I repair'd to Mr. Smatty, when I was accoutred, for a Letter to my Master, which he gave me.

Upon Monday, April 3. 1620, I departed from Diseworth, and came to Leicester; but I must acquaint you, that before I came away I visited my Friends, amongst whom I had given me about ten Shillings, which was a great Comfort unto me. On Tuesday, April the 4th, I took leave of my Father, then in Leicester Goal for Debt, and came along with Bradshaw the Carrier, the same Person with whom many of the Duke of Buckingham's Kindred had come up with. Hark how the Waggon crack with their rich Lading! It was a very stormy Week, cold and uncomfortable: I footed it all along; we could not reach London until Palm-Sunday, the 9th of April, about half an Hour after Three in the Afternoon, at which time we entred Smithfield. When I had gratified the Carrier and his Servants, I had 7s. 6d. left, and no more; one Suit of Cloaths upon my Back, two Shirts, three Bands, one pair of Shoes, and as many Stockings. Upon the Delivery of my Letter my Master entertain'd me, and next Day bought me a new Cloak, of which you may imagine (good Esquire) whether I was not proud of; besides, I saw and eat good white Bread, contrary to our Diet in Leicestershire. My Master's Name was Gilbert Wright, born at Market Bosworth in Leicestershire; my Mistress was born at Ashby de la Zouch, in the same County, and in the Town where I had gone to School. This Gilbert Wright could neither write nor read; he lived upon his Annual Rents, was of no Calling or Profession; he had for many Years been Servant to the Lady Pawlet in Hertfordshire; and when Serjeant Puckering was made Lord Keeper, he made him Keeper of his Lodgings at White-hall. When Sir Thomas Egerton was made Lord Chancellor, he entertained him in the same Place; and when he married a Widdow in Newgate-Market, the Lord Chancellor recommended him to the Company of *Salter*s, London, to admit him into their Company, and so they did, and my Master in 1624, was Master of that Company; he was a Man of excellent natural Parts, and wou'd speak publickly upon any Occasion very rationally and to the Purpose. I write this, that the World may know he was no Taylor, or my self of that or any other Calling or Profession: My Work was to go before my Master to Church; to attend my Master when he went abroad; to make clean his Shoes; sweep the Street;

Street; help to drive Bucks when we washed; fetch Water in a Tub from the Thames; I have helped to carry Eighteen Tubs of Water in one Morning, weed the Garden; all manner of Drudgeries I willingly performed; scrape Trenchers, &c. If I had any Profession, it was of this Nature: I should never have denied my being a Taylor, had I been one; for there is no Calling so base, which by God's Mercy may not afford a Livelihood; and had not my Master entertain'd me, I would have been of a very mean Profession 'ere I would have returned into the Country again; so here ends the Actions of eighteen Years of my Life.

My Master married his second Wife for her Estate; she was competently rich; she married him for Considerations he performed not, (nocturnal Society) so that they lived very uncomfortably; she was about 70 Years of Age, he 66 or more; yet never was any Woman more jealous of a Husband than she; insomuch that whensoever he went into London, she was confident of his going to Women; by those Means my Life was the more uncomfortable, it being very difficult to please two such opposite Natures: However, as to the Things of this World I had enough, and endured their Discontents with much Sereneness. My Mistress was very curious to know of such as were then called Cunning or Wise Men, whether she should bury her Husband? She frequently visited such Persons, and this Occasion begot in me a little Desire to learn something that way, but wanting Money to buy Books, I laid aside these Motions and endeavoured to please both Master and Mistress.

Of my Mistress's Death, and Occasion thereof by Means of a Cancer in her Breast.

In 1622 she complain'd of a Pain in her left Breast, whereon there appeared at first a hard Knob no bigger than a small Peason; it encreased in a little time very much, was very hard, and sometimes would look very Red; she took Advice of Surgeons, had Oils, Sear-cloaths, Plates of Lead, and what not: In 1623 it grew very big, and spread all over her Breast; then for many Weeks Pultises were apply'd to it, which in continuance of time broke the Skin, and then abundance of watery thin Stuff came from it, but nothing else; at length the Matter came to Suppuration, but never any great Store issued forth; it was exceeding noisom and painful; from the beginning of it until she died, she would permit no Surgeon to dress it but only my self; I applied every thing unto it, and her Pains were so great the Winter before she died, that I have been called out of my Bed two or three Times in one Night to dress it and change Plaisters. In 1624 by degrees with Sizzers I cut all the whole Breast away, I mean the Sinews, Nerves, &c. In one Fortnight, or little more, it appeared, as it were, mere Flesh, all raw, so that she could scarce endure any Unguent to be applied. I remember there was a great Cleft through the Middle of the Breast, which when that fully appeared she died, which was in September 1624; my Master being then in the Country, his Kindred in London would willingly have had Mourning for her; but by Advice of an especial Friend of his I contradicted them; nor would I permit them to look into any Chest or Trunk in the House: She was decently buried, and so fond of me in the Time of her Sickness, she would never permit me out of her Chamber, gave me five Pounds in old Gold, and sent

sent me unto a private Trunk of hers at a Friends House, where she had One hundred Pounds in Gold; she bad me bring it away and take it, but when I opened the Trunk I found nothing therein; for a Kinsman of hers had been there a few Days before and carried all away: She was in a great Passion at my relating thereof, because she could not gratify my Pains in all her Sickness, advised me to help my self when she was gone, out of my Masters Goods, which I never did.

Courteous Esquire, be not weary of reading hereof, or of what followeth.

When my Mistrefs died, she had under her Arm-hole a small scarlet Bag full of many Things, which, one that was there delivered unto me. There was in this Bag several Sigils, some of Jupiter in Trine, others of the Nature of Venus, some of Iron, and one of Gold, of pure Angel-gold, of the Bigness of a 33 s. Piece of King James's Coin. In the Circumference on one Side was engraven, Vicit Leo de tribu Judæ Tetragrammaton †, within the Middle there was engraven an holy Lamb. In the other Circumference there was Amraphel and 3 †. In the Middle, Sanctus Petrus, Alpha and Omega.

The Occasion of framing this Sigil was thus; her former Husband travelling into Suffex, hap-pened to lodge in an Inn, and to lie in a Chamber thereof; wherein, not many Months before a Country Grasier had lain, and in the Night cut his own Throat; after this Night's Lodging he was perpetually, and for many Years, followed by a Spirit, which vocally and articulately provoked him to cut his Throat; he was used frequently to say, I desie thee, I desie thee, and to spit at the Spirit; this Spirit followed him many Years, he not making any Body acquainted with it; at last he grew melancholly and discontented; which being carefully observed by his Wfie, she many Times hearing him pronounce, I desie thee, &c. she desired him to acquaint

acquaint her with the Cause of his Distemper, which he then did. Away she went to Dr. Simon Forman, who lived then in Lambeth, and acquaints him with it; who having framed this Sigil, and hanged it about his Neck, he wearing it continually until he died was never more molested by the Spirit: I sold the Sigil for 32 Shillings, but transcribed the Words verbatim as I have related. Sir, you shall now have a Story of this Simon Forman, as his Widow, whom I well knew, related it unto me. But before I relate his Death, I shall acquaint you something of the Man, as I have gathered them from some Manuscripts of his own Writing.

Of Dr. Simon Forman.

He was a Chandler's Son in the City of Westminster. He travelled into Holland for a Month in 1580, purposely to be instructed in Astrology, and other more occult Sciences; as also in Physick, taking his Degree of Doctor beyond Seas: Being sufficiently furnished and instructed with what he desired, he returned into England towards the latter End of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and flourished until that Year of King James, wherein the Countess of Essex, the Earl of Somerset, and Sir Thomas Overbury's Matters were questioned. He lived in Lambeth with a very good Report of the Neighbourhood, especially of the Poor, unto whom he was charitable. He was a Person that in Horary Questions (especially Thefts) was very judicious and fortunate; so also in Sickneses, which indeed was his Master-piece. In resolving Questions about Marriage he had good Success: in other Questions very moderate. He was a Person of indefatigable Pains. I have seen sometimes half one Sheet of Paper wrote of his Judgment upon one Question; in writing whereof he used much

much Tautology, as you may see your self (inost excellent Esquire) if you read a great Book of Dr. Floods, which you have, who had all that Book from the Manuscripts of Forman; for I have seen the same Word for Word in an English Manuscript formerly belonging to Doctor Willoughby of Gloucestershire. Had Forman lived to have methodized his own Papers, I doubt not but he would have advanced the Jathromathematical Part thereof very compleatly; for he was very observant, and kept Notes of the Success of his Judgments, as in many of his Figures I have observed. I very well remember to have read in one of his Manuscripts, what followeth.

Being in Bed one Morning (says he) I was desirous to know whether I should ever be a Lord, Earl or Knight, &c. whereupon I set a Figure; and thereupon my Judgment; by which he concluded, that within two Years Time he should be a Lord or Great Man: But, says he, before the two Years were expired, the Doctors put me in Newgate, and nothing came. Not long after, he was desirous to know the same Things concerning his Honour or Greatship. Another Figure was set, and that promised him to be a great Lord within one Year. But he sets down, that in that Year, he had no Preferment at all; only I became acquainted with a Merchant's Wife, by whom I got well. There is another Figure concerning one Sir——Ayre his going into Turkey, whether it would be a good Voyage or not: The Doctor repeats all his Astrological Reasons, and musters them together, and then gave his Judgment it would be a fortunate Voyage. But under this Figure, he concludes, this proved not so, for he was taken Prisoner by Pirates ere he arrived in Turkey, and lost all. He set several Questions to know if he should attain the Philosophers Stone, and the Figures, according to his straining, did seem to signify signify as much ; and then he tuggs upon the Aspects and Configurations, and elected a fit Time to begin his Operation ; but by and by, in Conclufion, he adds, fo the Work went very forward ; but upon the ☐ of ☿ the Setting-glaſs broke, and I loſt all my Pains : He ſets down five or ſix ſuch Judgments, but ſtill complains all came to nothing, upon the malignant Aspects of ♃ and ☿. Altho' ſome of his Astrological-Judgments did fail, more particularly thoſe concerning himſelf, he being no way capable of ſuch Preferment as he ambitiouſly deſired : Yet I ſhall repeat ſome other of his Judgments, which did not fail, being performed by Conference with Spirits. My Miſtreſs went once unto him, to know when her Husband, then in Cumberland, would return, he having promiſed to be at Home near the Time of the Queſtion ; after ſome Conſideration, he told her to this Effect : Margery, for ſo her Name was, thy Husband will not be at Home theſe Eighteen Days ; his Kindred have vexed him, and he is come away from them in much Anger ; he is now in Carlisle, and hath but Three Pence in his Purſe. And when he came Home he confeſs'd all to be true, and that upon leaving his Kindred he had but Three Pence in his Purſe. I ſhall relate one Story more, and then his Death.

One Coleman, Clerk to Sir Thomas Beaumont of Leiceſterſhire, having had ſome liberal Favours both from his Lady and her Daughters, bragged of it, &c. The Knight brought him into the Star-Chamber, had his Servant ſentenced to be Pillory'd, Whipped, and afterwards, during Life, to be Imprisoned. The Sentence was executed in London, and was to be in Leiceſterſhire : Two Keepers were to convey Coleman from the Fleet to Leiceſter. My Miſtreſs taking Conſideration of Coleman, and the Miſeries he was to ſuffer, went preſently to Forman, acquainting him therewith ; who, after Conſideration, ſwore

Cole-

Coleman had lain both with Mother and Daughters ; and besides said, that the old Lady being afflicted with Fits of the Mother, call'd him into her Chamber to hold down the Fits with his Hands ; and that he holding his Hands about the Breast, she cried lower, lower, and put his Hands below her Belly ; and then — He also told my Mistress in what Posture he lay with the young Ladies, &c. and said, They intend in Leicester to whip him to death ; but I assure thee, Margery, he shall never come there ; yet they set forward to Morrow, says he ; and so his two Keepers did, Coleman's Legs being locked with an Iron-Chain under the Horse's Belly. In this Nature they travelled the first and second Day ; on the third Day the two Keepers seeing their Prisoner's Civility the two preceding Days, did not lock his Chain under the Horse's Belly, as formerly, but locked it only to one Side. In this Posture they rode some Miles beyond Northampton, when, on a sudden, one of the Keepers had a Necessity to untruss, and so the other and Coleman stood still ; by and by the other Keeper desired Coleman to hold his Horse, for he had Occasion also : Coleman immediately took one of their Swords, and ran through two of the Horses, killing them stark dead ; gets upon the other, with one of their Swords ; Farewell Gentlemen, quoth he, tell my Master I have no mind to be whipped in Leicestershire, and so went his way. The two Keepers in all haste went to a Gentleman's House near at Hand, complaining of their Misfortune, and desired of him to pursue their Prisoner, which he with much Civility granted ; but 'ere the Horses could be got ready, the Mistress of the House came down, and enquiring what the Matter was, went to the Stable, and commanded the Horses to be unsaddled, with this sharp Speech—Let the Lady Beaumont and her Daughters live honestly, none of my Horses shall go forth upon this Occasion.

I could

I could relate many such Stories of his Performances; as also what he wrote in a Book left behind him, viz. This I made the Devil write with his own Hand in Lambeth-Fields 1596, in June or July, as I now remember. He professed to his Wife there would be much Trouble about Carr and the Countess of Essex, who frequently resorted unto him, and from whose Company he would sometimes lock himself in his Study a whole Day. Now we come to his Death, which happened as follows; the Sunday Night before he died, his Wife and he being at Supper in their Garden-house, she being pleasant, told him, that she had been informed he could resolve, whether Man or Wife should die first; whether shall I (quoth she) bury you or no? Oh Trunco, for so he called her, thou wilt bury me, but thou wilt much repent it; yea, but how long first, I shall die, said he, ere Thursday Night. Munday came, all was well. Tuesday came, he not sick. Wednesday came and still he was well; with which his impertinent Wife did much twit him in the Teeth. Thursday came, and Dinner was ended, he very well, he went down to the Water-side, and took a pair of Oars to go to some Buildings he was in hand with in Puddledock; being in the middle of the Thames he presently fell down, only saying, an Impost, an Impost, and so died. A most sad Storm of Wind immediately following. He died worth 1200 pounds, and left only one Son called Clement. All his Rarities, secret Manuscripts, of what quality soever, Dr. Napper of Lindford in Buckinghamshire had, who had been a long time his Scholar; and of whom Forman was used to say he would be a Dunce: Yet in continuance of Time he proved a singular Astrologer and Physician. Sir Richard now living I believe has all those Rarities in possession, which were Formans, being Kinsman and Heir unto Dr. Napper. [His Son Thomas Napper Esq; most generously gave most of these MSS. to Elias Ashmole

mole Esq;] I hope you will pardon this Digression.

After my Mistress was dead I lived most comfortably, my Master having a great Affection for me.

The Year 1625 now comes on, and the Plague exceeding violent, I will relate what I observed the Spring before it broke forth; against our corner House every Night there would come down about five or six of the Clock, sometime One hundred or more Boys, some playing, others as if in serious Discourse, and just as it grew dark would all be gone home; many succeeding Years there was no such, or any Concourse usually, no more than four or five in a Company: In the Spring of 1625, the Boys and Youths of several Parishes in like Number appeared again, which I beholding, called Thomas Sanders, my Landlord, and told him, that the Youth and young Boys of several Parishes did in that Nature assemble and play, in the beginning of the Year 1625. God bless us, quoth I, from a Plague this Year; but then there succeeded one, and the greatest that ever was in London. In 1625, the Visitation encreasing, and my Master having a great Charge of Money and Plate, some of his own, some other Men's, left me and a Fellow-Servant to keep the House, and himself in June went into Leicestershire. He was in that Year Feoffee Collector for twelve poor Alms-people living in Clement-Danes Church-yard; whose Pensions I in his Absence paid weekly, to his and the Parish's great Satisfaction. My Master was no sooner gone down, but I bought a Base-viol, and got a Master to instruct me; the Intervals of Time I spent in Bowling in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, with Wat the Cobler, Dick the Blacksmith, and such like Companions: We have sometimes been at our Work at six in the Morning, and so continued till three or four in the Afternoon, many times without out Bread or Drink all that while. Sometimes I went to Church and heard Funeral-Sermons, of which there was then great Plenty. At other Times I went early to St. Antholine's in London, where there was every Morning a Sermon. The most able People of the whole City and Suburbs were out of Town; if any remained, it were such as were engaged by Parish-Offices to remain; no Habit of a Gentleman or Woman continued; the woful Calamity of that Year was grievous, People dying in the open Fields and in the open Streets. At last, in August, the Bills of Mortality so increased, that very few People had Thoughts of surviving the Contagion: The Sunday before the great Bill came forth, which was of 5000 and odd Hundreds, there was appointed a Sacrament at Clement Dane's; during the distributing whereof I do well remember we sang thirteen Parts of the One hundred and nineteenth Psalm. One Jacob, our Minister (for we had three that Day, the Communion was so great) fell sick as he was giving the Sacrament, went home, and was bury'd of the Plague the Thursday following. Mr. James, another of the Ministers, fell sick 'ere he had quite finished, had the Plague, and was thirteen Weeks 'ere he recovered. Mr. Whitacre, the last of the three, escaped not only then, but all the Contagion following, without any Sickness at all; though he officiated at every Funeral, and bury'd all manner of People, whether they died of the Plague or not. He was given to drink, seldom could preach more than one quarter of an Hour at a time, &c. In November my Master came home. My Fellow-Servant's and my Diet came weekly to Six Shillings and Six Pence, sometimes to Seven Shillings, so cheap was Diet at that Time.

In February of that Year, my Master marry'd again (one who after his Death became my Wife.) In the same Year he settled upon me, during my Life,

Life, 20 Pounds per Annum, which I have enjoyed ever since, even to the writing hereof.

May 22, 1627, my Master dy'd at the Corner House in the Strand, where I also lived so long. He died intestate; my Mistress relinquishing the Administration, it came to his elder Brother, who assigned the Estate over to me for Payment of my Master's Debts; which being paid, I faithfully returned the remaining Part unto his Administrator; nor had one Penny of the Estate more than 20 Pounds per Annum, which was allowed me by Contract, to undertake the Payment of my Master's Debts.

Of my Marriage the first Time.

My Mistress had been twice marry'd to old Men, was now resolved to be couzened no more; she was of a brown ruddy Complexion, corpulent, of but mean Stature, plain, no Education, yet a very provident Person, and of good Condition: She had many Sutors, old Men, whom she declined; some Gentlemen of decay'd Fortunes, whom she liked not, for she was covetous and sparing: By my Fellow-Servant she was observed frequently to say, she cared not if she married a Man that would love her, so that he had never a Penny; and would ordinarily talk of me when she was in Bed: This Servant gave me Encouragement to give the Onset; I was much perplexed hereat, for should I attempt her, and be slighted, she would never care for me afterwards; but again, I considered that if I should attempt and fail, she would never speak of it; or would any believe I durst be so audacious as to propound such a Question, the Disproportion of Years and Fortune being so great betwixt us: However, all her Talk was of Husbands, and in my Presence saying one Day after Dinner, she respected not Wealth, but desired an honest Man; I made Answer, I thought I could fit her with such a Hus-

a Husband ; she asked me where ? I made no more ado, but presently saluted her, and told her my self was the Man : She reply'd, I was too young ; I said nay ; what I had not in Wealth, I would supply in Love ; and saluted her frequently, which she accepted lovingly ; and next Day at Dinner made me sit down at Dinner with my Hat on my Head, and said, she intended to make me her Husband ; for which I gave her many Salutes, &c.

I was very careful to keep all Things secret, for I well knew, if she should take Counsel of any Friend, my Hopes would be frustrated, therefore I suddenly procured her Consent to marry, unto which she assented ; so that upon the 8th Day of September 1627, at St. George's Church in Southwark, I was marry'd unto her, and for two whole Years we kept it secret. When it was divulged, and some People blamed her for it, she constantly reply'd, that she had no Kindred ; if I proved kind, and a good Husband, she would make me a Man ; if I proved otherwise, she only undid her self. In the third and fourth Years after our Marriage, we had strong Suits of Law with her first Husband's Kindred, but overthrew them in the End. During all the Time of her Life, which was until October 1633, we lived very lovingly, I frequenting no Company at all ; my Exercises were sometimes Angling, in which I ever delighted : My Companions two aged Men. I then frequented Lectures, two or three in a Week ; I heard Mr. Sute in Lombard-street, Mr. Gouge of Black-Fryers, Dr. Micklethwait of the Temple, Dr. Oldsworth, with others, the most learned Men of those Times, and leaned in Judgment to Puritanism. In October 1627, I was made free of the Salters Company in London.

How I came to study Astrology.

It happened on one Sunday 1632, as my self and a Justice of Peace's Clerk were, before Service, discoursing courfing of many Things, he chanced to fay, that fuch a Perfon was a great Scholar, nay, fo learned, that he could make an Almanack, which to me then was ftrange: One Speech begot another, till, at laft, he faid, he could bring me acquainted with one Evans in Gun-Powder-Alley, who had formerly lived in Staffordshire, that was an excellent wife Man, and ftudy'd the Black Art. The fame Week after we went to fee Mr. Evans; when we came to his Houfe, he having been drunk the Night before, was upon his Bed, if it be lawful to call that a Bed whereon he then lay; he roufed up himfelf, and, after fome Compliments, he was content to inftroct me in Aftrology; I attended his beft Opportunities for feven or eight Weeks, in which time I could fet a Figure perfectly: Books he had not any, except Haly de judiciis Aftroorum, and Orri-ganus his Ephemerides; fo that as often as I entred his Houfe, I thought I was in the Wildernefs. Now fomething of the Man: He was by Birth a Welchman, a Mafter of Arts, and in Sacred Orders; he had formerly had a Cure of Souls in Staffordshire, but now was come to try his Fortunes at London, being in a manner enforced to fly for fome Offences very fcandalous committed by him in thefe Parts, where he had lately lived; for he gave Judgment upon things loft, the only Shame of Aftrology: He was the moft Saturnine Perfon my Eyes ever beheld, either before I practifed or fince; of a middle Stature, broad Forehead, Beetle-brow'd, thick Shoulders, flat Nofed, full Lips, down-look'd, black curling ftiff Hair, fplay-footed; to give him his Right, he had the moft piercing Judgment naturally upon a Figure of Theft, and many other Questions, that I ever met withal; yet for Money he would willingly give contrary Judgments, was much addicted to Debauchery, and then very abusive and quarrellom, feldom without a black Eye, or one

one Mischief or other: This is the same Evans who made so many Antimonial Cups, upon the Sale whereof he principally subsisted; he understood Latin very well, the Greek Tongue not at all: He had some Arts above, and beyond Astrology, for he was well versed in the Nature of Spirits, and had many times used the circular way of invoking, as in the Time of our Familiarity he told me. Two of his Actions I will relate, as to me delivered. There was in Staffordshire a young Gentlewoman that had, for her Preferment, marry'd an aged rich Person, who being desirous to purchase some Lands for his Wife's Maintenance; but this young Gentlewoman, his Wife, was desired to buy the Land in the Name of a Gentleman, her very dear Friend, but for her Use: After the aged Man was dead, the Widow could by no Means procure the Deed of Purchase from her Friend; whereupon she applies her self to Evans, who, for a Sum of Money, promises to have her Deed safely delivered into her own Hands; the Sum was Forty Pounds. Evans applies himself to the Invocation of the Angel Salmon, of the Nature of Mars, reads his Litany in the Common-Prayer-Book every Day, at select Hours, wears his Surplice, lives orderly all that Time; at the Fortnight's End Salmon appear'd, and having received his Commands what to do, in a small Time returns with the very Deed desired, lays it down gently upon a Table where a white Cloth was spread, and then, being dismiss'd, vanish'd. The Deed was, by the Gentleman who formerly kept it, placed among many other of his Evidences in a large wooden Chest, and in a Chamber at one End of the House; but upon Salmon's removing and bringing away the Deed, all that Bay of Building was quite blown down, and all his own proper Evidences torn all to pieces. The second Story followeth.

Some-

Some time before I became acquainted with him, he then living in the Minories, was desired by the Lord Bothwell and Sir Kenelm Digby to show them a Spirit, he promised so to do; the time came, and they were all in the Body of the Circle, when lo, upon a sudden, after some time of Invocation, Evans was taken from out the Room, and carried into the Field near Battersea Causeway, close to the Thames. Next Morning a Country-man going by to his Labour, and espying a Man in black Cloaths, came unto him and awaked him, and asked him how he came there; Evans by this understood his Condition, enquired where he was, how far from London, and in what Parish he was; which when he understood, he told the Labourer he had been late at Battersea the Night before, and by chance was left there by his Friends. Sir Kenelm Digby and the Lord Bothwell went home without any Harm, came next Day to hear what was become of him; just as they in the Afternoon came into the House, a Messenger came from Evans to his Wife, to come to him at Battersea: I enquired upon what Account the Spirit carry'd him away, who said he had not, at the time of Invocation, made any Suffumigation, at which the Spirits were vexed. It happen'd, that after I discerned what Astrology was, I went weekly into Little-Britain, and bought many Books of Astrology, not acquainting Evans therewith. Mr. A. Bedwell, Minister of Tottenham-High-Cross near London, who had been many Years Chaplain to Sir Henry Wotton, whilst he was Ambassador at Venice, and assisted Pietro Soave Polano, in composing and writing the Council of Trent, was lately dead; and his Library being sold into Little-Britain, I bought amongst them my choicest Books of Astrology. The Occasion of our falling out was thus; a Woman demanded the Resolution of a Question, which when he had done, she went her way; I standing by all the while, and observing the Figure, asked him why he gave the Judgment he did, with the Signification shewed the quite contrary, and gave him my Reasons, which when he had ponder'd, he call'd me Boy, and must he be contradicted by such a Novice! But when his Heat was over, he said, had he not so judged to please the Woman, she would have given him nothing, and he had a Wife and Family to provide for; upon this we never came together after. Being now very meanly introduced, I apply'd my self to study those Books I had obtain'd, many times twelve, or fifteen, or eighteen Hours Day and Night; I was curious to discover, whether there was any Verity in the Art or not. Astrology in this Time, viz. in 1633, was very rare in London, few professing it that understood any thing thereof. Let it not repent you (O noble Esquire) if now I make a short Digression of such Persons as then professed Astrology, that Posterity may understand in what Condition I found it, and in whose Hands that little that remained was lodged.
and

There lived then in Houndsditch one Alexander Hart, who had been a Soldier formerly, a comely old Man, of good Aspect; he professed Questionary Astrology, and a little of Physick; his greatest Skill was to elect young Gentlemen fit Times to play at Dice, that they might win or get Money. I went unto him for Resolutions for three Questions at several times, and he erred in every one. To speak soberly of him, he was but a Cheat, as appeared suddenly after; for a rustical Fellow of the City, desirous of Knowledge, contracted with Hart to assist for a Conference with a Spirit, and paid him Twenty Pounds of Thirty Pounds the Contract. At last, after many Delays, and no Spirit appearing, or Money return'd, the young Man indicts him for a Cheat at the Old-Baily in London; the Jury found the Bill, and at the Hearing

ing of the Cause this Jest happen'd, some of the Bench enquired what Hart did, he sat like an Alderman in his Gown, quoth the Fellow; at which the Court fell into a great Laughter, most of the Court being Aldermen. He was to have been set upon the Pillory for this Cheat, but John Taylour, the Water Poet, being his great Friend, got the Lord Chief Justice Richardson to bail him, 'ere he stood upon the Pillory, and so Hart fled presently into Holland, where he ended his Days. It was my Fortune, upon the Sale of his Books in 1634, to buy Argoll's Primum Mobile for fourteen Shillings, which I only wanted.

In Lambeth Marsh at the same time lived one Captain Bubb, who resolved Horary Questions Astrologically, a proper handsom Man, well spoken, but withal covetous, and of no Honesty, as will appear by this Story, for which he stood upon the Pillory. A certain Butcher was robbed, going to a Fair, of Forty Pounds; he goes to Bubb, who for Ten Pounds in Hand paid, would help him to the Thief; appoints the Butcher such a Night percisely, to watch at such a Place, and the Thief should come thither; commanded him by any means to stop him; the Butcher attends according to Direction. About 12 in the Night there comes one Riding very fiercely upon a full Gallop, whom the Butcher knocks down, and seized both upon Man and Horse: The Butcher brings the Man and Horse to the next Town, but then the Person whom the Butcher attack'd was John, the Servant of Dr. Bubb; for which the Captain was indicted and suffered upon the Pillory, and afterwards ended his Days in great Disgrace.

There was also one Jeffry Nerve, at this time a Student in Physick and Astrology; he had formerly been a Merchant in Yarmouth, and Mayor of the Town, but failing in Estate, went into the Low-

Countries, and at Franeker took the Degree of Doctor in Physick; he had some little smattering in Astrology; could resolve a Question of Theft, or Love-question, something of Sicknes; a very grave Person, laborious and honest, of tall Stature and comly Feature; he died of late Years, almost in the very Street near Tower-hill: He had a Design of printing 200 verified Questions, and desired my Approbation 'ere they went to the Press; that I first would see them, and then give Testimony. When I had perused the first Forty, I corrected Thirty of them, would read over no more; I shewed him how erroneous they were, desired his Emendation of the rest, which he performed not. These were afterwards, in R. Saunders's Custody, bought by him either of his Son or of a Stationer: (a)

There was then William Poole, a Nibler at Astrology, sometimes a Gardner, an Apparitor, a Drawer of Linnen; as Quoifs, Handkerchiefs; a Plasterer and a Bricklayer; he would brag many times he had been of seventeen Professions; was very good Company for Drolling, as you your self very well remember (most honoured Sir) (b) he pretended to Poetry; and that Posterity may have a Taste of it, you shall here have inserted two Verses of his own making; the Occasion of making them was thus. One Sir Thomas Jay, a Justice of the Peace in Rosemary-Lane, issued out his Warrant for the Apprehension of Poole, upon a pretended Suggestion, that he was in Company with some lewd People in a Tavern, where a Silver Cup was lost, Anglice stolen. Poole hearing of the Warrant, packs up his little Trunk of Books, being all his Library, and runs to Westminster; but hearing some Months after that the Justice was dead and buried, he came and enquired where the Grave was; and after the Discharge of his Belly upon the Grave, left these two Verses upon it, which he swore he made himself.

*Here lieth buried Sir Thomas Jay, Knight,
Who being dead, I upon his Grave did shite.*

He died about 1651, or 1652, at St. Mary Overy's in Southwark; and this was part of his last Will.

Item; I give to Dr. Ardee all my Books, and one Manuscript of my own, worth one Hundred of Lilly's Introduction.

Item; If Dr. Ardee give my Wife any thing that is mine, I wish the Devil may fetch him Body and Soul. The Doctor, terrified with this Curse, gave me all the Books and his Goods, which I presently gave to his Widow.—Interdum seria jocis.

Now also lived this Dr. Ardee, but his true Name was Richard Delahay, formerly an Attorney; he studied Astrology and Physick, being in Necessity, and forced from Derbyshire, where he had lived, by the Old Countess of Shrewsbury; he was of moderate Judgment, both in Astrology and Physick. He had formerly been well acquainted with Charles Sledd, (a) an Apothecary, who used the Crystal, and had a very perfect Sight. This Dr. Ardee hath many times affirmed unto me, (esto fides) that an Angel, one time, appeared unto him, and offer'd him a Lease of his Life for one Thousand Years; he died about the Age of Fourscore Years; left his Widow, who married into Kent, (b) worth 2, or 300*l.* and William Poole's Estate came to four or five Pounds.

In the Years 1632, and 1633, John Booker became famous for a Prediction of his upon a Solar Eclipse in the 19th Degree of Aries 1663, taken out of Leovitiuſ de magnis conjunctionibus, viz. Oh Reges & Principes, &c. Both the King of Bohemia, and Gustavus King of Sweden, dying during the Effects of that Eclipse.

John Booker was born in Manchester, of good Parentage, in the Year 1601, was in his Youth well instructed in the Latin Tongue, which he understood very well: He seemed from his Infancy to be designed for Astrology; for from the Time he had any Understanding, he would be always poring on, and studying Almanacks. He came to London at fitting Years, and served an Apprentiship to an Haberdasher in Laurence-Lane, London; but either wanting Stock to set up, disliking the Calling, he left his Trade, and taught to write at Hadley in Middlesex several Scholars in that School: He wrote singularly well both Secretary and Roman. In Proceſs of Time he served Sir Christopher Clethero, Knight, Alderman of London, as his Clerk, being a City Justice of Peace: He also was Clerk to Sir Hugh Hammerſley, Alderman of London, both which he served with great Credit and Estimation; and by that Means became not only well known, but as well respected of the most eminent Citizens of London, even to his dying Day.

He was an excellent Proficient in Astrology, whose excellent Verses upon the twelve Months, framed according to the Configurations of each Month, being blessed with Success according to his Predictions, procured him much Reputation all over England: He was a very honest Man, ab-

horred any Deceit in the Art he studied ; had a curious Fancy in judging of Thefts, and as successful in resolving Love-Questions : He was no mean Proficient in Astronomy ; he understood much in Physick ; was a great Admirer of the Antimonial Cup ; not unlearned in Chymistry, which he loved well, but did not practise. He was inclined to a Diabetes ; and in the last three Years of his Life was afflicted with a Dysentery, which at last consumed him to nothing : He died of good Fame in 1667. Since his Decease I have seen one Nativity of his Performance exactly directed, and judged with as much Learning as from Astrology can be expected.

His Library of Books came short of the World's Approbation, and were by his Widow sold to Elias Ashmole, Esq; who most generously gave her (a) far more Money than they were worth ; but out of his Respects unto the Deceased and his Memory, he most willingly paid her the Money. He left behind him two Sons and two Daughters ; he left in Writing very little but his Annual Prognostications. He began first to write about the Year 1630 ; he wrote Bellum Hibernicæ, in the Time of the long Parliament, a very sober and judicious Book, the Epistle thereunto I gave him. He wrote lately a small Treatise of Easter-Day, a very learned Thing, wherein he shewed much Learning and Reading. To say no more of him, he lived an honest Man, his Fame not questioned at his Death.

In this Year 1633, I became acquainted with Nicholas Fiske, Licentiate in Physick, who was born in Suffolk, near Framingham (b) Castle, of very good Parentage, who educated him at Country Schools, until he was fit for the University ; but he went not to the Academy, studying at home both Astrology and Physick, which he afterwards practised in Colchester ; and there was well acquainted with Dr. Gilbert, who wrote De Magnete. He came afterwards unto London, and exercised his Faculty in several Places thereof. (For in his Youth he would never stay long in one House.) In 1633 he was sent for out of Sussex by Dr. Winston of Gresham Colledge, to instruct the Lord Treasurer Weston's Son in Arithmetick, Astronomy upon the Globes, and their Uses. He was a Person very studious, laborious, of good Apprehension, and had by his own Industry obtained both in Astrology, Physick, Arithmetick, Astronomy, Geometry and Algebra, singular Judgment : He would in Astrology resolve Horary Questions very soundly ; but was ever diffident of his own Abilities : He was exquisitely skilful in the Art of Directions upon Nativities, and had a good Genius in performing Judgment thereupon, but very unhappy he was, that he had no Genius in teaching his Scholars, for he never perfected any : his own Son Matthew hath often told me, that where his Father did teach any Scholars in his time, they would principally learn of Him ; he had Scorpio ascending, and was secretly envious to those he thought had more Parts than himself ; However I must be ingenious, and do affirm, that by frequent Conversation with him, I came to know which were the best Authors, and much to enlarge my Judgment, especially in the Art of Directions : He visited me most Days once after I became acquainted with him, and would communicate his most doubtful Questions unto me, and accept of my Judgment therein rather than his own : He singularly well judged and directed Sir Robert Holborn's Nativity, but desired me to adjudge the first House, Seventh and Tenth thereof, which which I did, and which Nativity (since Sir Robert gave it me) come to your Hands, and remains in your Library; [oh learned Esquire] he died about the Seventy-eighth Year of his Age, poor.

In this Year also William Bredon, Parson or Vicar of Thornton in Buckinghamshire, was living, a profound Divine, but absolutely the most polite Person for Nativities in that Age, strictly adhering to Ptolomy, which he well understood; he had a Hand in composing Sir Christopher Heydon's Defence of Judicial Astrology, being that time his Chaplain; he was so given over to Tobacco and Drink, that when he had no Tobbacco, he would cut the Bell-ropes and smoke them.

I come now to continue the Story of my own Life, but thought it not inconvenient to commit unto Memory something concerning those Persons who practised when first I became a Student in Astrology; I have wrote nothing concerning any of them, which I my self do not either know, or believe to be true.

In October 1633 my first Wife died, and left me what ever was hers; it was considerable, very near to the Value of One Thousand Pounds.

One whole Year and more I continued a Widower, and followed my Studies very hard; during which time a Scholar pawned unto me, for Forty Shillings, Ars Notoria, (a) a large Volume wrote in Parchment, with the Names of those Angels, and their Pictures, which are thought and believed by wise Men, to teach and instruct in all the severall Liberal Sciences, and is attained by observing elected Times, and those Prayers appropriated unto the severall Angels.

I do ingeniously acknowledge, I used those Prayers according to the Form and Direction prescribed for some Weeks, using the Word Astrologia for Astronomia; but of this no more: That Ars Notoria, inserted in the latter end of Cornelius Agrippa signifieth nothing; many of the Prayers being not the same, nor is the Direction to these Prayers any thing considerable.

(a) Among Dr. Napier's MSS. I had an Ars Notoria, written by S. Forman in large Vellum.

In the Year 1634, I taught Sir George Peckham, Knight, Astrology, that Part which concerns Sickness, wherein he so profited, that in two or three Months he would give a very true Discovery of any Disease, only by his Figures; he practised in Nottingham, but unfortunately died in 1635 at St. Winifred's Well in Wales; in which Well he continued so long mumbling his Pater Nosters and Sancta Winifrida ora pro me, that the Cold struck into his Body; and, after his coming forth of that Well, never spoke more.

In this Year 1634, I purchased the Moiety of thirteen Houses in the Strand for five hundred and thirty Pounds.

In November, the 18th Day, I was again the second time married, and had five hundred Pounds Portion with that Wife; she was of the Nature of Mars.

Two Accidents happen'd to me in that Year something memorable.

Davy Ramsey, his Majesty's Clock-maker, had been informed, that there was a great Quantity of Treasure buried in the Cloyster of Westminster-Abbey; he acquaints Dean Williams therewith, who was also then Bishop of Lincoln; the Dean gave him Liberty to search after it, with this Proviso, that if any was discovered, his Church should have a Share of it. Davy Ramsey finds out one John Scott, (a) who pretended the use of the Mosaical Rods to assist him herein; I was desired to join with him, unto which I consented. One Winter's Night Davy Ramsley, with several Gentlemen, my self, and Scott, enter'd the Cloysters; we play'd the Hazel-rod round about the Cloyster; upon the West-side of the Cloysters the Rods turned one over another, an Argument that the Treasure was there: The Labourers digged at least six Foot deep, and then we met with a Coffin; but in regard it was not heavy, we did not open, which we afterwards much repented: From the Cloysters we went into the Abbey Church, where, upon a sudden, (there being no Wind when we began) so fierce, so high, so blustering and loud a Wind did rise, that we verily believed the West-end of the Church would have fallen upon us; our Rods would not move at all; the Candles and Torches, all but one, were extinguished, or burned very dimly: (a) John Scott, my Partner, was amazed, looked pale, knew not what to think or do, until I gave Directions and Command to dismiss the Demons; which when done, all was quiet again, and each Man returned unto his Lodging late, about 12 a-Clock at Night; I could never since be induced to joyn with any in such like Actions.

The true Miscarriage of the Business, was by reason of so many People being present at the Operation; for there was above 30, some laughing, others deriding us; so that if we had not dismissed the Demons, I believe most part of the Abbey-Church had been blown down; Secrecy and intelligent Operators, with a strong Confidence and Knowledge of what they are doing, are best for this Work.

(a) Davy Ramsley brought an half quartern Sack to put the Treasure in.

In 1634, or 1635, a Lady living in Greenwich, who had tried all the known Artists in London, but to no purpose, came weeping and lamenting her Condition, which was this: She had permitted a young Lord to have the Use of her Body, 'till she was with Child by him; after which time he could not or would not endure her Sight, but commanded his Lacquies and Servants to keep his Doors fast shut, lest she should get into his Chamber, or if they chanced to see her near his Lodging, to drive her away, which they several times had done. Her Desire unto me was to assist her to see him, and then she should be content; whereupon I ordered such a Day, such an Hour of that Day to try her Fortune once more, she obeyed; and when she came to the King's Bench, where the Lord there was imprison'd, the outward Door stood wide open, none speaking a Word unto her, she went up Stairs, no Body molesting her, she found the Lord's Chamber-Door wide open, he in Bed, not a Servant to be heard or seen, so she was pleased: Three Days after she came to acquaint me with her Success, and then drew out of her Pocket a Paper full of Ratsbane; which had she not had Admission unto him, that Day I appointed, she would in a Pint of White-wine have drank at the Stair's Foot where the Lord lodged. The like Misfortune befell her after that; when the Lord was out of the Prison, then I ordered her such a Day to go and see a Play at Salisbury Court, which she did, and within one quarter of an Hour the Lord came into the same Box wherein she was. But I grew weary of such Employments, and since have burned my Books which instructed these Curiosities: For after that I became melancholly, very much afflicted with the Hypocondraick Melancholly, growing lean and spare, and every Day worse; so that in the Year 1635 my Infirmity con-

continuing, and my Acquaintance increasing, I resolved to live in the Country, and in March and April 1636 removed my Goods unto Hersham, where I now live; and in May my Person, where I continued until 1641, no notice being taken who, or what I was.

In the Years 1637 and 1638, I had great Law-suits both in the Exchequer and Chancery, about a Lease I had of the annual Value of eighty Pounds; I got the Victory.

In the Year 1640 I instructed John Humphreys, Master of that Art in the Study of Astrology; upon this occasion, being at London, by accident in Fleetstreet, I met Dr. Percivall Willoughby of Derby; we were of old Acquaintance, and he but by great chance lately come to Town, we went to the Mitre-Tavern in Fleetstreet, where I sent for old Will Poole the Astrologer, living then in Ram-Alley: being come to us, the Doctor produced a Bill, set forth by a Master of Arts in Cambridge, intimating his Abilities for resolving of all manner of Questions Astrologically: The Bill was shewed, and I wondring at it, Poole made answer, he knew the Man, and that he was a silly Fool; I, quoth he, can do more than he; he sees me every Day, he'll be here by and by; and indeed he came into our Room presently: Poole had just as we came to him set a Figure, and then shewed it me, desiring my Judgment; which I refused, but desired the Master of Arts to judge first; he denyed, so I gave mine, to the very great liking of Humphreys, who presently enquired, if I would teach him, and for what? I told him I was willing to teach, but would have an 100 l. I heard Poole, whilst I was judging the Figure, whisper in Humphreys's Ear, and swear I was the best in England. Staying three or four Days in Town, at last we contracted for 40 l. for I could never be quiet from his Solicitations; he invited me to Supper, and before I had shewed him him any thing, paid me 35*l.* As we were at Supper a Client came to speak with him, and so up into his Closet he went with his Client; I call'd him in before he set his Figure, or resolved the Question, and instantly acquainted him how he should discover the Moles or Marks of his Client, he set his Figure and presently discovers four Moles the Querent had; and was so overjoy'd therewith, that he came tumbling down the Stairs, crying, Four by G—, Four by G—, I will not take one hundred Pounds for this one Rule: In six Weeks time, and tarrying with him three Days in a Week, he became a most judicious Person.

This Humphreys was a laborious Person, vain-glorious, loquacious, Fool-hardy, desirous of all Secrets which he knew not, insomuch that he would have given me 200*l.* to have instructed him in some Curiosities he was perswaded I had Knowledge of, but Artis est celere Artem, especially to those who live not in the Fear of God, or can be Masters of their own Councils: He was in Person and Condition such another as that Monster of Ingratitude my quondam Taylor, John Gadbury. After my Refusal of teaching him, what he was not capable of, we grew strange, though I afforded him many Civilities whenever he required it; for after the Siege of Colchester he wrote a Book against me, called Anti-Merlinus-Anglicus, married a second Wife, his first living in Cambridgeshire, then practised Physick by a contrary Name, having Intentions to practise in Ireland; he went to Bristol, but there understanding the Parliament's Forces had reduced that Kingdom, he came back to London, but durst not abide therein, but running from his second Wife, who also had another Husband, he went to Sea, with Intention for Barbadoes, but died by the Way in his Voyage. I had never seen John Booker at that Time; but telling him him one Day I had a Desire to see him, but first, ere I would speak with him, I would fit my self with my old Rules, and rub up my Astrology; for at that Time [and this was 1640] I thought John Booker the greatest and most compleat Astrologer in the World. My Scholar Humphreys presently made answer; 'Tutor, you need not pump for any of your former Knowledge, John Booker is no such Pumper; we met, saith he, the other Day, and I was too hard for him my self, upon Judgment of 3 or 4 Questions.' If all the Transactions happening unto that my Scholar were in one Volume, they would transcend either Guzman, Don Quixot, Lazarillo de Tormes, or any other of the like Nature I ever did see.

Having now in part recovered my Health, being weary of the Country, and perceiving there was Money to be got in London, and thinking my self to be as sufficiently enabled in Astrology as any I could meet with, I made it my Business to repair thither; and so in September 1641 I did; where, in the Years 1642 and 1643, I had great Leisure to better my former Knowledge; I then read over all my Books of Astrology, over and over; had very little or no Practice at all: And whereas formerly I could never endure to read Valentine Naibod his Commentary upon Alcabitus, now having seriously study'd him, I found him to be the profoundest Author I ever met with; him I traversed over Day and Night, from whom I must acknowledge to have advanced my Judgment and Knowledge unto that height I soon after arrived at, or unto: A most rational Author, and the sharpest Expofitor of Ptolomy that hath yet appeared. To exercise my Genius, I began to collect Notes, and thought of writing some little thing upon the \odot of h and f then approaching: I had not wrote above one Sheet, and that very meanly, but James Lord Galloway came to see me; and, by chance, casting his Eyes

Eyes upon that rude Collection, he read it over, and so approved of it, yea, so encouraged me to proceed farther, that then, and after that Time, I spent most of my Time in composing thereof, and bringing it, in the End, into that Method wherein it was printed 1644. I do seriously now profess, I had not the Assistance of any Person living, in the writing or composing thereof. Mr. Fiske sent me a small Manuscript which had been Sir Christopher Heydon's, who had wrote something of the Conjunction of H and U , 1603; out of which, to bring my Method in order, I transcribed, in the Beginning, five or six Lines, and not any more, though that graceless Fellow Gadbury wrote the contrary; but, Semel & semper Nebulo & Mendax. I did formerly write one Treatise, in the Year 1639, upon the Eclipse of the Sun, in the 11th Degree of Gemini, 22 May 1639: It consisted of six Sheets of Paper. But that Manuscript I gave unto my most munificent Patron, and ever bountiful Friend, William Pennington, of Muncaster in Cumberland, Esq; a wise and excellently learned Person; who, from the Year 1634, even till he died, continued unto me the most grateful Person I ever was acquainted with. I became acquainted with him by means of Davy Ramsey.

Oh! most noble Esquire, let me now beg your Pardon, if I digress for some small Time, in commemorating his Bounty unto me, and my Requital of his Friendship, by performing many Things successfully for his Advantage.

In 1639 he was made Captain, and served His Majesty in his then Wars against the Scots; during which Time a Farmer's Daughter being delivered of a Bastard, and hearing, by Report, that he was slain, father'd the Child upon him. Shortly after he returned, most wofully vexed to be thus abused, when absent. The Woman was countenanced by some Gentlemen of Cumberland, in this her

her Villany against him; so that, notwithstanding he had Warrants to attach her Body, he could never discover her: But yet, hunting her from one Place to another, her Friends thought it most convenient to send her to London, where she might be in most Safety. She came up to the City, and immediately I had Notice thereof, and the Care of that Matter left unto me. I procured the Lord Chief Justice Bramston's Warrant, and had it lying dormant by me. She had not been in the City above one Fortnight, but that I, going casually to the Clerk of the Assizes Office for Cumberland, saw there an handsome Woman; and hearing of her speak the Northern Tone, I concluded she was the Party I did so want. I rounded the Clerk in his Ear, and told him I would give him Five Shillings to hold the Woman in Chat till I came again, for I had a Writing concerned her. I hastened for my Warrant, and a Constable, and returned into the Office, seized her Person before the Clerk of the Assizes, who was very angry with me: It was then Sessions at Old-Bayly, and neither Judge nor Justice to be found. At Night we carried her before the Recorder Gardner, it being Saturday at Night. She, having no Bail, was sent to Bridewel, where she remained till Monday. On Monday Morning, at the Old-Bayly, she produced Bail; but I desiring of the Recorder some Time to enquire after the Bail, whether they were sufficient, returned presently, and told him one of the Bail was a Prisoner in Ludgate, the other a very poor Man: At which he was so vexed, that he sent her to Newgate, where she lay all that Week, until she could please me with good Sureties; which then she did, and so was bound over to appear at the next Assizes in Cumberland; which she did, and was there sentenced to be whipp'd, and imprisoned one whole Year.

This Action infinitely pleas'd Mr. Pennington,

who thought I could do Wonders; and I was most thankfully requited for it. All the while of this scandalous Business, do what he could, he could not discover what Persons they were that supported her; but the Woman's Father coming to Town, I became acquainted with him, by the Name of Mr. Sute, Merchant; invited him to a Dinner; got George Farmer with me; when we so plied him with Wine, he could neither see or feel. I pay'd the Reckoning, being 22 s. But next Morning the poor Man had never a Writing or Letter in his Pocket. I sent them down to my Friend, who thereby discovered the Plots of several Gentlemen in the Business; after which, Mr. Sute returned to his old Name again.

Mr. Pennington was a true Royalist, whom Charles the Second made one of his Commissioners of Array for Cumberland; having Directions from me continually how Matters did and would go betwixt the King and Parliament, he acted warily, and did but sign one only Warrant of that Nature, and then gave over. When the Times of Sequestrations came, one John Musgrave, the most bold and impudent Fellow, and most active of all the North of England, and most malicious against my Friend, had got this Warrant under Mr Pennington's Hand into his Custody; which affrighted my Friend, and so it might, for it was Cause enough of Sequestration, and would have done it, Musgrave intending and promising himself great Matters out of his Estate, I was made acquainted herewith. Musgrave being in London, by much ado, I got acquainted with him, pretending my self a bitter Enemy against Pennington, whereat he very heartily rejoiced; and so we appointed one Night to meet at the Five Bells, to compare Notes; for I pretended much. We did meet, and he very suddenly produced upon the Table all his Papers, and withal, the Warrant of Array unto which my Friend

Friend had set his Hand; which when I saw, I marry, said I, this is his Hand I will swear; now have at all; come, the other Cup, this Warrant shall pay for all. I observed where the Warrant lay upon the Table, and, after some time took occasion ignorantly to let the Candle fall out, which whilst he went to light again at the Fire, I made sure of the Warrant, and put it into my Boot; he never missing it of 8 or 10 Days, about which Time, I believe, it was above half way towards Cumberland, for I instantly sent it by the Post, with this friendly Caveat, Sin no more. Musgrave durst not challenge me in those Times, and so the Business was ended very satisfactory to my Friend, and no less to my self.

He was, besides, extremely abused by one Isaac Antrobus, Parson of Egremond, a most evil Liver, bold, and very rich; at last he procured a Minister of that Country, in hope of the Parsonage, to article against him in London, before the Committee of plundered Ministers. I was once more invited to solicit against Antrobus, which I did upon three or more Articles.

I. That Antrobus baptized a Cock, and called him Peter.

II. He had knowledge of such a Woman and of her Daughter, viz. of both their Bodies, in as large a manner as ever of his own Wife.

III. Being drunk, a Woman took a Cord and tied it about his privy Members unto a Manger in a Stable.

IV. Being a continual Drunkard.

V. He never preached, &c.

Antrobus was now become a great Champion for the Parliament; but, at the Day of Hearing, I had procured abundance of my Friends to be there; for the Godly, as they termed themselves, sided with him;

him; the present Master of the Rolls was Chairman that Day, Sir Harbottle Grimston.

Who hearing the Foulness of the Cause, was very much ashamed thereof; I remember Antrobus, being there, pleaded he was in his natural Condition when he acted so ungraciously.

What Condition were you in, said the Chairman, when you lay with Mother and Daughter?

There's no Proof of that, saith he.

None but your own Confession, said the Chairman, nor could any tell so well.

I am not given to Drunkenness (quoth he.) He was so drunk within this Fortnight (quoth I) he reeled from one Side of the Street to the other; here's the Witness to prove it: who presently, before the Committee, being sworn, made it good, and named the Place and Street where he was drunk. So he was adjudged Scandalous, and outed of his Benefice, and our Minister had the Parsonage.

You cannot imagine how much the Routing of this drunken Parson pleased Mr. Pennington, who paid all Charges munificently and thankfully.

But now follows the last and greatest Kindness I ever did him; notwithstanding the Committee for Sequestrations in Cumberland were his very good Friends, yet the Sub-Sequestrators, of their own Heads, and without Order, and by Strength of Arms, secured his Iron, his Wood, and so much of his Personal Estate as was valued at 7000*l*. Now had I Complaint upon Complaint, Would I suffer my old Friend to be thus abused? it was in my Power to free him from these Villains.

I hereupon advised what was best to do, and was counselled to get Mr. Speaker Lenthall's Letter to the Sub-Sequestrators, and command them to be obedient to the Committee of the County.

Whereupon, I framed a Letter my self, unto the Sub-Sequestrators directed, and with it, my self and Mr. Laurence Maydwell (whom your self well

well knew) went to Mr. Speaker, unto whom we sufficiently related the Stubbornness of the Officers of Cumberland; their Disobedience to the Committee; and then shewed him the Letter, which when he had read over, he most courteously signed, adding withal, that if they proceeded further in Sequestering Mr. Pennington, he would command a Serjeant at Arms to bring them up to answer their Contempts: I immediately posted that Letter to my Friend, which when the absurd Fellows received, they delivered him Possession of his Goods again; and, for my Pains, when he came to London, gave me One hundred Pounds: He died in 1652, of a violent Fever. I did carefully, in 1642 and 1643, take notice of every grand Action which happened betwixt King and Parliament, and did first then incline to believe, that as all sublunary Affairs did depend upon superior Causes, so there was a Possibility of discovering them by the Configurations of the superior Bodies; in which Way making some Essays in those two Years, I found Encouragement to proceed further, which I did; I perused the Writings of the Ancients, but therein they were silent, or gave no Satisfaction; at last, I framed unto my self that Method, which then and since I follow, which, I hope, in Time may be more perfected by a more penetrating Person than my self.

In 1643, I became familiarly known to Sir Bulstrode Whitlock, a Member of the House of Commons; he being sick, his Urine was brought unto me by Mrs. Liste, † Wife to John Liste, afterwards one of the Keepers of the Great Seal; having set

† She was afterwards beheaded at Winchester, for harbouring one N.throp, a Rebel in the D. of Monmouth's Army 1685. She had made her self remarkable, by saying at the Martyrdom of K. Charles I. 1648, that her Blood leapt within her to see the Tyrant fall; for this, when she fell into the State Trap, she neither did nor could expect Favour from any of that Martyr's Family. D. N.

my Figure, I returned Answer, The Sick for that time would recover, but by means of a Surfeit would dangerously relapse within one Month; which he did, by eating of Trouts at Mr. Sand's House, near Leatherhead in Surrey. Then I went daily to visit him, Dr. Prideau despairing of his Life; but I said there was no Danger thereof, and that he would be sufficiently well in five or six Weeks, and so he was.

In 1644, I published Merlinus Anglicus Junior about April; I had given one Day the Copy thereof unto the then Mr. Whitlocke, who by Accident was reading thereof in the House of Commons; 'ere the Speaker took the Chair, one look'd upon it, and so did many, and got Copies thereof; which when I heard, I applied my self to John Booker to license it, for then he was Licenser of all Mathematical Books; I had, to my Knowledge, never seen him before; he wonder'd at the Book, made many impertinent Obliterations, framed many Objections, swore it was not possible to distinguish betwixt King and Parliament; at last licensed it according to his own Fancy; I delivered it unto the Printer, who being an Arch Presbyterian, had Five of the Ministry to inspect it, who could make nothing of it, but said it might be printed, for in that I meddled not with their Dagon. The first Impression was sold in less than one Week; when I presented some to the Members of Parliament, I complained of John Booker the Licenser, who had defaced my Book; they gave me Order forthwith to re-print it as I would, and let them know if any durst resist me in the re-printing, or adding what I thought fit; so the second time it came forth as I would have it.

I must confess, I now found my Scholar Humphreys's Words to be true concerning John Booker, whom at that time I found but moderately versed in Astrology; nor could he take the Circles of Po-

Position of the Planets, until in that Year I instructed him; after my Introduction in 1647 became publick, he amended beyond measure, by Study partly, and partly upon Emulation to keep up his Fame and Reputation; so that since 1647, I have seen some Nativities by him very judiciously performed: When the Printer presented him with an Introduction of mine, as soon as they were forth of the Press; I wish, saith he, there was never another but this in England, conditionally I gave One hundred Pounds for this; after that time we were very great Friends to his dying Day.

In June 1644, I published Supernatural Sight; and, indeed, if I could have procured the dull Stationer to have been at Charges to have cut the Icon or Form of that prodigious Apparition, as I had drawn it forth, it would have given great Satisfaction; however, the Astrological Judgment thereupon had its full Event in every Particular.

That Year also I published the White King's Prophecy, of which there were sold in three Days Eighteen hundred, so that it was oft re-printed: I then made no Commentary upon it.

In that Year I printed the Prophetical Merlin, and had Eight Pounds for the Copy.

I had then no farther Intention to trouble the Press any more, but Sir Richard Napper having received one of Capt. Wharton's Almanacks for 1645, under the Name of Naworth, he came unto me: Now Lilly, you are met withal, see here what Naworth writes; the Words were, he called me an impudent senseless Fellow, and by Name William Lilly.

Before that Time, I was more Cavalier than Roundhead, and so taken notice of; but after that I engaged Body and Soul in the Cause of Parliament, but still with much Affection to his Majesty's Person and unto Monarchy, which I ever loved and approved beyond any Government whatsoever;

foever ; and you will find in this Story many Passages of Civility which I did, and endeavoured to do, with the Hazard of my Life, for his Majesty : But God had ordered all his Affairs and Councils to have no Successes ; as in the Sequel will appear.

To vindicate my Reputation, and to cry Quit-tance with Naworth, against whom I was highly incensed, to work I went again for Anglicus 1645 ; which as soon as finish'd I got to the Press, thinking every Day one Month till it was publick : I therein made use of the King's Nativity, and finding that his Ascendant was approaching to the Quadrature of Mars, about June 1645, I gave this unlucky Judgment ; If now we fight, a Victory stealeth upon us ; and so it did in June 1645, at Naseby, the most fatal Overthrow he ever had.

In this Year 1645, I published a Treatise called the Starry Messenger, with an Interpretation of three Suns seen in London 29 May 1644, being Charles the Second his Birth-Day : In that Book I also put forth an Astrological Judgment concerning the Effects of a Solar Eclipse, visible the 11th of August 1645. Two Days before its publishing, my Antagonist, Captain Wharton, having given his Astrological Judgment upon his Majesty's present March from Oxford ; therein again fell foul against me and John Booker : Sir Samuel Luke, Governour of Newport-Pannel, had the Thing came to his Garrison from Oxford, which presently was presented unto my View. I had but Twelve Hours, or thereabout, to answer it, which I did with such Success as is incredible ; and the Printer printed both the March and my Answer unto it, and produced it to Sight, with my Starry Messenger, which came forth and was made publick the very Day of the Parliament's great Victory obtained against his Majesty in Person at Naseby, under the Conduct of the Lord Thomas Fairfax.

That

That Book no sooner appeared, but within fourteen Days Complaint was made to the Committee of Examinations, Miles Corbet then being Chairman, my mortal Enemy, he who after was hanged, drawn, and quartered, for being one of the King's Judges; he grants his Warrant, and a Messenger to the Serjeant at Arms seizeth my Person. As I was going to Westminster with the Messenger, I met Sir Philip Stapleton, Sir Christopher Wray, Mr. Denzil Hollis, Mr. Robert Reynolds, who, by great Fortune, had the Starry Messenger Sheet by Sheet from me as it came from the Press; they presently fell a smiling at me; 'Miles Corbet, Lilly will punish thee soundly; but fear nothing, we will dine, and make haste to be at the Committee Time enough to do thy Business;' and so they most honourably performed; for they, as soon as they came, sat down, and put Mr. Reynolds purposely into the Chair, and I was called in; but Corbet being not there, they bid me withdraw until he came; which when he did, I was commanded to appear, and Corbet desired to give the Cause of my being in Restraint, and of the Committee's Order; Mr. Reynolds was purposely put into the Chair, and continued till my Business was over.

Corbet produced my Anglicus of 1645, and said there were many scandalous Passages therein against the Commissioners of the Excise in London; he produced one Passage, which being openly read by himself, the whole Committee adjudged it to signify the Errors of Sub-Officers, but had no relation to the Commissioners themselves, which I affirmatively maintained to be the true Meaning as the Committee declared.

Then Corbet found out another dangerous Place, as he thought, and the Words were thus in the printed Book—In the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, will not the Excise pay the Soldiers?

Corbet,

Corbet very ignorantly read, will not the Eclipse pay Soldiers? at which the Committee fell heartily to laugh at him, and so he became silent.

There was a great many Parliament-Men there; the Chamber was full. — Have you any more against Mr. Lilly? cry'd the Chairman.

Yes, saith the Solicitor for the Excise, since his Starry Messenger came forth we had our House burnt, and the Commissioners pull'd by their Cloaks in the Exchange. Pray, Sir, when was this, asked old Sir Robert Pye, that the House was burnt, and the Aldermen abused? It was in such a Week, saith he. Mr. Lilly, When came the Book forth? The very Day of Naseby Fight, answered Mr. Reynolds, nor needs he be ashamed of writing it; I had it daily as it came forth of the Press: It was then found the House to be burnt, and the Aldermen abused, twelve Days before the Starry Messenger came forth. What a lying Fellow art thou (saith Sir Robert Pye) to abuse us so! This he spoke to the Solicitor: Then stood up one Bassell a Merchant, he inveighed bitterly against me, being a Presbyterian, and would have had my Books burnt: You smell more of a Citizen than a Scholar, reply'd Mr. Francis Drake. I was ordered to withdraw, and by and by was called in, and acquainted the Committee did discharge me; but I cry'd with a loud Voice, I was under a Messenger; whereupon the Committee order'd him or the Serjeant at Arms not to take any Fees; Mr. Reynolds saying, Literate Men never pay any Fees.

But within one Week after, I was likely to have had worse Success, but that the before-named Gentlemen stoutly befriended me. In my Epistle of the Starry Messenger, I had been a little too plain with the Committee of Leicestershire; who thereof made Complaint unto Sir Arthur Hazelrigg, Knight for that County; he was a furious Person, and made a Motion in the House of Commons against me, and the Business was committed to that Committee, whereof Baron Rigby was Chairman, a Day was assigned to hear the Matter; in the Morning whereof, as I passed by Mr. Pullen's Shop in Paul's Church-yard, Pullen bad God be with you, and named me by Name; Mr. Selden being there, and hearing my Name, gave Direction to call me unto him, where he acquaints me with Hazelrigg's Humour and Malice towards me, called for the Starry Messenger, and having read over the Words mentioning that Committee, he asked me how I would answer them? I related what I would have said, but he contradicted me, and acquainted me what to say, and how to answer: In the Afternoon I went to appear, but there was no Committee set, or would sit; for both Mr. Reynolds and Sir Philip Stapleton, and my other Friends, had fully acquainted Baron Rigby with the Business, and desired not to call upon me until they appeared; for the Matter and Charge intended against me was very frivolous, and only presented by a cholerick Person to please a Company of Clowns, meaning the Committee of Leicester: Baron Rigby said, if it were so he would not meddle with the Matter, but exceedingly desired to see me. Not long after he met Sir Arthur, and acquainting him what Friends appeared for me, said, I will then prosecute him no further.

All the ancient Astrologers of England were much startled and confounded at my manner of Writing, especially old Mr. William Hodges, who lived near Wolverhampton in Staffordshire, and many others who understood Astrology competently well, as they thought; Hodges swore I did more by Astrology than he could by the Crystal, and Use thereof, which indeed he understood as perfectly as any one in England; he was a great

Royalist, but could never hit any thing right for that Party, though he much desired it: He resolved Questions Astrologically; Nativities he meddled not with; in Things of other Nature, which required more Curiosity, he repaired to the Crystal: His Angels were Raphael, Gabriel, and Uriel; his Life answered not in Holiness and Sanctity to what it should, having to deal with those holy Angels: Being Contemporary with me, I shall relate what my Partner John Scott, the same Scott as is before-mentioned, affirmed of him. John Scott was a little skilful in Surgery and Physick, so was Will. Hodges, and had formerly been a School-master. Scott having some Occasions into Staffordshire, addressed himself for a Month or Six Weeks to Hodges, assisted him to dress his Patients, let Blood, &c. Being to return to London, he desired Hodges to shew him the Person and Feature of the Woman he should marry; Hodges carries him into a Field not far from his House, pulls out his Crystal, bids Scott set his Foot to his, and, after a while, wishes him to inspect the Crystal, and observe what he saw there; I see saith Scott, a ruddy complexion'd Wench in a red Waistcoat, drawing a Can of Beer; she must be your Wife, said Hodges: You are mistaken, Sir, said Scott, I am, so soon as I come to London, to marry a tall Gentlewoman in the Old Bayly. You must marry the red Waistcoat, said Hodges. Scott leaves the Country, comes up to London, finds his Gentlewoman married: Two Years after going into Dover, in his Return, he refreshed himself at an Inn in Canterbury, and as he came into the Hall, or first Room thereof, he mistook the Room, and went into the Buttery, where he espied a Maid, described by Hodges, as before-said, drawing a Can of Beer, &c. He then more narrowly viewing her Person and Habit, found her, in all Parts, to be the same Hodges had described; after which he

he became a Sutor unto her, and was married unto her; which Woman I have often seen. This Scott related unto me several times, being a very honest Person, and made great Conscience of what he spoke. Another Story of him is as followeth, which I had related from a Person which well knew the Truth of it.

A Neighbour Gentleman of Hodges lost his Horse, who having Hodges's Advice for Recovery of him, did again obtain him. Some Years after, in a Frolick, he thought to abuse him, acquainting a Neighbour therewith, viz. That he had formerly lost a Horse, went to Hodges, recovered him again, but saith it was by chance; I might have had him without going unto him: Come, let's go, I will now put a Trick upon him; I will leave some Boy or other at the Town's-End with my Horse, and then go to Hodges and enquire for him. He did so, gave his Horse to a Youth, with Orders to walk him till he returned: Away he goes with his Friend, salutes Mr. Hodges, thanks him for his former Courtesy, and now desires the like, having lost a Horse very lately. Hodges, after some time of pausing, said; Sir, your Horse is lost, and never to be recovered. I thought what Skill you had, replies the Gallant, my Horse is walking in a Lane at the Town's-End. With that Hodges swore (as he was too much given unto that Vice) Your Horse is gone, and you will never have him again. The Gentleman departed in great Derision of Hodges, and went where he left his Horse; when he came there, he found the Boy fast asleep upon the Ground, the Horse gone, the Boy's Arm in the Bridle.

He returns again to Hodges, desiring his Aid, being sorry for his former Abuse; old Will. swore like a Devil, Be gone, be gone; Go look your Horse. This Business ended not so; for the malicious Man brought Hodges into the Star-Chamber.

ber, bound him over to the Assizes, put Hodges to great Expences, but, by means of the Lord Dudley, if I remember aright, or some other Person thereabouts, he overcame the Gentleman, and was acquitted.

Besides this, a Gentlewoman of my Acquaintance, and of Credit, in Leicestershire, having lost a Pillion-Cloth, a very new one, went to desire his Judgment. He ordered her such a Day to attend at Mountsorrel in Leicestershire, and about 12 a Clock she should see her Pillion-Cloth upon a Horse and a Woman upon it. My Friend attended the Hour and Place; it being told, she must needs warm her self well, and then enquired if any Passengers had lately gone by the Inn? Unto whom Answer was made, There passed by whilst she was at the Fire, about half an Hour before, a Man, and a Woman behind him, on Horse-back; inquiring of what Colour the Pillion-Cloth was of, it was answered, directly of the Colour my Friend's was of: They pursued, but too late.

In those Times, there lived one William Marsh in Dunstable, a Man of godly Life and upright Conversation, a Recusant; by Astrology he resolved Thievish Questions with great Success; that was his utmost sole Practice. He was many times in Trouble; but by Dr. Napper's Interest with the Earl of Bolingbroke, Lord Wentworth, after Earl of Cleveland, he still continued his Practice, the said Earl not permitting any Justice of Peace to vex him.

This Man had only two Books, Guido and Haly bound together: He had so mumbled and tumbled the Leaves of both, that half one Side of every Leaf was torn even to the Middle. I was familiar with him for many Years: He died about 1647.

A Word or two of Dr. Napper, who lived at Great Lindford in Buckinghamshire, was Parson, and had had the Advowson thereof : He descended of worshipful Parents, and this you must believe, for when Dr. Napper's Brother, Sir Robert Napper, a Turkey Merchant, was to be made a Baronet in King James's Reign, there was some Dispute whether he could prove himself a Gentleman for three or more Descents. By my Saul, saith King James, I will certify for Napper, that he is of above 300 Years standing in his Family, all of them, by my Saul, Gentlemen, &c. However, their Family came into England in King Henry the Eighth's Time : The Parson was Master of Arts ; but whether Doctorated by Degree or Courtesy, because of his Profession, I know not : Miscarrying one Day in the Pulpit, he never after used it, but all his Life-time kept in his House some excellent Scholar or other to officiate for him, with Allowance of a good Salary : He out-went Forman in Physick and Holiness of Life ; cured the Falling-Sickness perfectly by constellated Rings, some Diseases by Amulets, &c.

A Maid was much afflicted with the Falling-Sickness, whose Parents applied themselves unto him for Cure ; he framed her a constellated Ring, upon wearing whereof, she recovered perfectly : Her Parents acquainted some scrupulous Divines with the Cure of their Daughter : The Cure is done by Inchantment, say they ; Cast away the Ring, it's Diabolical ; God cannot bless you, if you do not cast the Ring away. The Ring was cast into the Well, whereupon the Maid became Epileptical as formerly, and endured much Misery for a long time. At last her Parents cleansed the Well, and recovered the Ring again ; the Maid wore it, and her Fits took her no more. In this Condition she was one Year or two ; which the Puritan Ministers there adjoining hearing, never left off, till they procured her Parents to cast the Ring quite away ; which done, the Fits returned in such Violence, that they were enforced to apply to the Doctor again, relating at large the whole Story, humbly imploring his once more Assistance; but he could not be procured to do any thing, only said, Those who despised God's Mercies, were not capable or worthy of enjoying them.

I was with him in 1632, or 1633, upon Occasion; he had me up into his Library, being excellently furnished with very choice Books; there he prayed almost one Hour; he invoked several Angels in his Prayer, viz. (a) Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, Uriel, &c. we parted.

He instructed many Ministers in Astrology, would lend them whole Cloak-bags of Books; protected them from Harm and Violence, by means of his Power with the Earl of (b) Bolingbroke. He would confess my Master Evans knew more than himself in some Things; and some Time before he died, he got his Cousin Sir Richard to set a Figure to see when he should die; being brought him; Well, he said, the old Man will live this Winter, but in the Spring he will die; Welcome Lord Jesus, thy Will be done. He had many Enemies; Cotta, Doctor of Physick in Northampton, wrote a sharp Book of Witchcraft, wherein, obliquely, he bitterly inveighed against the Doctor.

In 1646, I printed a Collection of Prophecies, with the Explanation and Verification of Aquila, or the White King's Prophecy; as also the Nativities of Bishop Laud and Thomas Earl of Strafford, and a most learned Speech by him intended to have been spoke upon the Scaffold. In this Year 1646, after a great Consideration, and many Impor-

tunities, I began to fix upon Thoughts of an Introduction unto Astrology, which was very much wanting, and as earnestly long'd for by many Persons of Quality; something also much occasioned and hastened the Impression, viz. the malevolent barking of Presbyterian Ministers in their weekly Sermons, reviling the Professors thereof, and myself particularly by Name.

Secondly, I thought it a Duty incumbent upon me, to satisfy the whole Kingdom of the Lawfulness thereof, by framing a plain and easy Method for any Person but of indifferent Capacity to learn the Art, and instruct himself therein, without any other Master than my Introduction; by which means, when many understood it, I should have more Partners and Assistants to contradict all and every Antagonist.

Thirdly, I found it best as unto Point of Time, because many of the Soldiers were wholly for it, and many of the Independant Party; and I had abundance of worthy Men in the House of Commons, my assured Friends, no Lovers of Presbytery, which then were in great Esteem, and able to protect the Art; for should the Presbyterian Party have prevailed, as they thought of nothing less than to be Lords of all, I knew well they would have silenced my Pen annually, and committed the Introduction unto everlasting Silence.

Fourthly, I had something of Conscience touch'd my Spirit, and much elevated my Conceptions, believing God had not bestowed those Abilities upon me, to bury them under a Bushel; for tho' my Education was very mean, yet, by my continual Industry, and God's great Mercy, I found myself capable to go forward with the Work, and to commit the Issue thereof unto Divine Providence.

I had a hard Task in hand to begin the first Part hereof, and much Labour I underwent to methodize it as it is.

I ingeniously confefs unto you (Arts great Mecenas, noble Esquire Asbmole,) no mortal Man had any Share in the Composition or ordering of the first Part thereof, but my one only self. You are a Person of great Reading, yet I well know you never found the least Trace thereof in any Author yet extant.

In composing, contriving, ordering, and framing thereof (viz. the first Part) a great Part of that Year was spent. I again perused all, or most, Authors I had, sometimes adding, at other times diminishing, until at last I thought it worthy of the Press. When I came to frame the Second Part thereof, having formerly collected out of many Manuscripts, and exchanged Rules with the most able Professors I had Acquaintance with, in transcribing those Papers for Impression, I found, upon a strict Inquisition, those Rules were, for the most part, defective; so that once more I had now a difficult Labour to correct their Deficiency, to new rectify them according to Art; and lastly, considering the Multiplicity of daily Questions propounded unto me, it was as hard a Labour as might be to transcribe the Papers themselves with my own Hand. The Desire I had to benefit Posterity and my Country, at last overcame all Difficulties; so that what I could not do in one Year, I perfected early the next Year, 1647; and then in that Year, viz. 1647, I finished the Third Book of (a) Nativities, (b) during the composing whereof, for seven whole Weeks, I was shut up of the Plague, burying in that Time two Maid-Servants thereof; yet towards November that Year, the Introduction, called by the Name of Christian Astrology was made publick. There being, in those Times, some smart Difference between the Army and the Parliament, the Head-Quarters of the Army were at Windsor, whither I was carried with a Coach and Four Horses, and John Booker with me. We were welcome thither, and feasted in a Garden where General Fairfax lodged. We were brought to the General, who bid us kindly welcome to Windsor; and, in Effect, said thus much;

‘ That God had blessed the Army with many ‘ signal Victories, and yet their Work was not ‘ finished. He hoped God would go along with ‘ them until his Work was done. They fought
 ‘ not themselves, but the Welfare and Tranquilli‘ ty of the good People, and whole Nation; and,
 ‘ for that End, were resolved to sacrifice both ‘ their Lives and their own Fortunes. As for the ‘ Art we study’d, he hoped it was lawful and ‘ agreeable to God’s Word: He understood it not;
 ‘ but doubted not but we both feared God; and ‘ therefore had a good Opinion of us both. Unto his Speech I presently made this Reply:

‘ My Lord, I am glad to see you here at this ‘ Time.

‘ Certainly, both the People of God, and all ‘ others of this Nation, are very sensible of God’s ‘ Mercy, Love, and Favour, unto them, in di‘ recting the Parliament to nominate and elect
 ‘ you General of their Armies, a Person so Reli‘ gious, so Valiant.

‘ The several unexpected Victories obtained
 ‘ under your Excellency’s Conduct, will eternize
 ‘ the same unto all Posterity.

‘ We are confident of God’s going along with ‘ you and your Army, until the great Work for ‘ which he ordained you both, is fully perfected,
 ‘ which we hope will be the Conquering and Sub-
 ‘ version of Your’s and the Parliament’s Enemies,
 ‘ and then a quiet Settlement and firm Peace over

‘ all

all the Nation, unto God's Glory, and full Satisfaction of tender Consciences.

' Sir, As for our selves, we trust in God; and, as Christians, believe in him. We do not study any Art but what is lawful, and consonant to the Scriptures, Fathers, and Antiquity; which we humbly desire you to believe, &c.

This ended, we departed, and went to visit Mr. Peters the Minister, who lodged in the Castle, whom we found reading an idle Pamphlet come from London that Morning. Lilly, thou art herein, says he. Are not you there also? I reply'd. Yes, that I am, quoth he. — The Words concerning me, were these:

*From th' Oracles of the Sibyls so silly,
The curst Predictions of William Lilly,
And Dr. Sybbald's Shooe-lane Philly,*

Good Lord, deliver me.

After much Conference with Hugh Peters, and some private Discourse betwixt us two, not to be divulged, we parted, and so came back to London.

King Charles the First, in the Year 1646, April 27, went unto the Scots, then in this Nation. Many desired my Judgment, in the Time of his Absence, to discover the Way he might be taken; which I would never be drawn unto, or give any Direction concerning his Person.

There were many lewd Mercurys printed both in London and Oxford, wherein I was sufficiently abused, in this Year 1646. I had then my Ascendant ad ☉ ☽, and ☾ ad proprium. The Presbyterians were, in their Pulpits, as merciless as the Cavaliers in their Pamphlets.

About this Time, the most famous Mathematician of all Europe, (a) Mr. William Oughtred, Parson of Aldbury in Surrey) was in Danger of Sequestration by the Committee of or for plunder'd Ministers; (Ambo-dexters they were;) several inconsiderable Articles were deposed and sworn against him, material enough to have sequester'd him, but that, upon his Day of hearing, I applied my self to Sir Bolstrode Whitlock, and all my own old Friends, who in such Numbers appeared in his Behalf, that though the Chair-man and many other Presbyterian Members were stiff against him, yet he was cleared by the major Number: The Truth is, he had a considerable Parsonage, and that only was enough to sequester any moderate Judgment: He was also well known to affect His Majesty. In these Times many worthy Ministers lost their Livings or Benefices, for not complying with the Three-penny Directory. Had you seen (O noble Esquire) what pitiful Ideots were preferred into sequestered Church-Benefices, you would have been grieved in your Soul; but when they came before the Classis of Divines, could those Simpletons but only say, they were converted by hearing such a Sermon, such a Lecture, of that Godly Man Hugh Peters, Stephen Marshall, or any of that Gang, he was presently admitted.

(a) This Gentleman I was very well acquainted with, having lived at the House over-against his, at Aldbury in Surrey, three or four Years. E. A.

In 1647, I published the World's Catastrophe, the Prophecies of Ambrose Merlin, with the Key wherewith to unlock those abstruse Prophecies; also Trithemius of the Government of the World by the presiding Angels; these came forth all in one Book.

The two first were exquisitely translated by your self, (most Learned Sir) as I do ingeniously acknowledge in my Epistle unto the Reader, with a true Character of the Worth and admirable Parts, unto which I refer any that do desire to read you perfectly delineated; I was once resolved to have continued Trithemius for some succeeding Years, but Multiplicity of Employment impeded me, the Study required, in that kind of Learning, must be sedentary, of great Reading, sound Judgment, which no Man can accomplish except he wholly retire, use Prayer, and accompany himself with Angelical Consorts.

His Majesty Charles the First, having entrusted the Scots with his Person, was, for Money, delivered into the Hands of the English Parliament, and, by several Removals, was had to Hampton-Court about July or August 1647; for he was there, and at that Time when my House was visited with the Plague. He was desirous to escape from the Soldiery, and to obscure himself for some time near London, the Citizens whereof began now to be unruly, and alienated in Affection from the Parliament, inclining wholly to his Majesty, and very averse to the Army. His Majesty was well informed of all this, and thought to make good Use hereof; besides, the Army and Parliament were at some odds, who should be Masters. Upon the King's Intention to escape, and with his Consent, Madam Whorewood (whom you knew very well, worthy Esquire) came to receive my Judgment, viz. In what Quarter of this Nation he might be most safe, and not to be discovered until himself pleased.

When she came to my Door, I told her I would not let her come into my House, for I buried a Maid-Servant of the Plague very lately. I fear not the Plague, but the Pox, quoth she; so up we went. After Erection of my Figure, I told her, About Twenty Miles (or thereabouts) from London, and in Essex, I was certain he might continue undiscovered. She liked my Judgment very well; and, being her self of a sharp Judgment, remember'd a Place in Essex about that Distance, where was an excellent House, and all Conveniences for his Reception. Away she went, early next Morning, unto Hampton-Court, to acquaint his Majesty Majesty ; but see the Misfortune: He, either guided by his own approaching hard Fate, or misguided by (a) Ashburnham, went away in the Night-time West-ward, and surrendred himself to Hammond, in the Isle of Wight.

Whilst his Majesty was at Hampton-Court, Alderman Adams sent his Majesty One Thousand Pounds in Gold, Five Hundred whereof he gave to Madam Whorewood. I believe I had Twenty Pieces of that very Gold for my Share.

I have something more to write of Charles the First his Misfortunes, wherein I was concerned ; the Matter happened in 1648, but I thought good to insert it here, having after this no more Occasion to mention him.

His Majesty being in Carisbrook-Castle in the Isle of Wight, the Kentish Men, in great Numbers, rose in Arms and joined with the Lord Goring ; a considerable Number of the best Ships revolted from the Parliament ; the Citizens of London were forward to rise against the Parliament, his Majesty laid his Design to escape out of Prison, by sawing the Iron Bars of his Chamber Window, a small Ship was provided, and anchored not far from the Castle to bring him into Suffex ; Horses were provided ready to carry him through Suffex into Kent, that so he might be at the Head of the Army in Kent, and from thence to march immediately to London, where Thousands then would have armed for him : The Lady Whorewood came to me, acquaints me herewith, I got G. Farmer (who was a most ingenious Lock-smith, and dwelt in Bow-Lane) to make a Saw to cut the Iron Bars in fun-

(a) This Ashburnham was turned out of the House of Commons the 3d of Novemb. 1667, for taking a Bribe of 500 l. of the Merchants. I was informed hereof 26 Novemb. 1667.

der, I mean to saw them, and Aqua Fortis besides : His Majesty in a small time did his Work ; the Bars gave Liberty for him to go out ; he was out with his Body till he came to his Breast ; but then his Heart failing, he proceeded no farther when this was discovered ; as soon after it was, he was narrowly looked after, and no Opportunity after that could be devised to enlarge him. About September the Parliament sent their Commissioners with Propositions unto him into the Isle of Wight, the Lord William Sea being one ; the Lady Whorewood comes again unto me from him or by his Consent, to be directed : After perusal of my Figure, I told her the Commissioners would be there such a Day ; I elected a Day and Hour when to receive the Commissioners and Propositions ; and as soon as the Propositions were read, to sign them, and make haste with all speed to come up with the Commissioners to London, the Army being then far distant from London, and the City enraged stoutly against them, he promised he would so do : That Night the Commissioners came, and old Sea and his Majesty had private Conference till one in the Morning ; the King acquaints Sea with his Intention, who clearly dissuaded him from signing the Propositions, telling him they were not fit for him to sign, that he had many Friends in the House of Lords, and some in the House of Commons, that he would procure more, and then they would frame more easie Propositions. This Flattery of this unfortunate Lord, occasioned his Majesty to wave the Advice I and some others that wished his Prosperity had given, in Expectation of that which afterwards could never be gained. The Army having some Notice hereof from one of the Commissioners, who had an Eye upon old Sea, hasted unto London, and made the Citizens very quiet ; and besides the Parliament and Army kept kept a better Correspondency afterwards with each other.

Whilst the King was at Windsor-Castle, one Day walking upon the Leads there, he looked upon Captain Wharton's Almanack; my Book, saith he, speaks well as to the Weather: One William Allen standing by; what, saith he, saith his Antagonist, Mr. Lilly? I do not care for Lilly, said his Majesty, he hath been always against me, and became a little bitter in his Expressions; Sir, said Allen, the Man is an honest Man, and writes but what his Art informs him; I believe it, said his Majesty, and that Lilly understands Astrology as well as any Man in Europe. Exit, Rex Carolus.

In 1648 I published a Treatise of the three Suns, seen the Winter preceding; as also an Astrological Judgment upon a Conjunction of Saturn and Mars 28 June, in 11 Degrees 8 Minutes of Gemini.

I commend unto your perusal that Book and the Prophetical Merlin, which seriously considered, (Oh worthy Esquire) will more instruct your Judgment (De generalibus contingentibus Mundi) than all the Authors you yet ever met with.

In this Year, for very great Considerations, the Counsel of State gave me in Money 50 l. and a Pension of 100 l. per Annum, which for two Years I receiv'd, but no more, upon some Discontents I after would not or did require it; the Cause moving them was this; they could get no Intelligence out of France, although they had several Agents there for that purpose. I had formerly Acquaintance with a Secular Priest, at this time Confessor to one of the Secretaries; unto him I wrote, and by that Means had perfect Knowledge of the chiefest Concernments of France, at which they admired; but I never yet, until this Day, revealed the Name of the Person.

One Occasion why I diserted that Employment was, because Scott, who had 800 l. per Annum for Intelligence, would not contribute any Occasion to gratifie my Friend: And another thing was, I received some Affront from Gualter Frost their Secretary, one that was a Principal Minister belonging to the Council of State; Scott was ever my Enemy, the other Knave died of a Gangrene in his Arm suddenly after.

In 1648 and 1649, that I might encourage young Students in Astrology, I publickly read over the first Part of my Introduction, wherein there are many things contained, not easily to be understood.

And now we are entred into the Year 1649: his Majesty being at St. James's House, in January of that Year, I begun its Observations thus:

" I am ferious, I beg and expect Justice; either
" Fear or Shame begins to question Offenders.

" The lofty Cedars begin to divine a thunder-
" ing Hurricane is at Hand; God elevates Men
" contemptible.

" Our Demigods are sensible we begin to dis-
" like their Actions very much in London, more
" in the Country.

" Blessed be God, who encourages his Servants,
" makes them valiant, and of undaunted Spirits,
" to go on with his Decrees: upon a sudden great
" Expectations arise, and Men generally believe
" a quiet and calm Time draws nigh.

In Christmas Holy-days, the Lord Gray of Grooby and Hugh Peters, sent for me to Somerset-House, with Directions to bring them two of my Almanacks,—I did so; Peters and he read January's Observations.

If we are not Fools and Knaves, faith he, we shall do Justice, then they whisper'd; I understood not their Meaning till his Majesty was beheaded; they applied what I wrote of Justice, to be be understood of his Majesty, which was contrary to my Intention; for Jupiter, the first Day of January, became direct; and Libra is a Sign signifying Justice; I implored for Justice generally upon such as had cheated in their Places, being Treasurers, and such like Officers. I had not then heard the least Intimation of bringing the King unto Tryal, and yet the first Day thereof I was casually there, it being upon a Saturday; for going to Westminster every Saturday in the Afternoon, in these Times, at White-Hall I casually met Peters; Come, Lilly, wilt thou go hear the King Try'd? When, said I, Now, just now; go with me: I did so, and was permitted by the Guard of Soldiers to pass up to the King's-Bench; within one Quarter of an Hour came the Judges, presently his Majesty, who spoke excellently well, and Majestically, without Impediment in the least when he spoke. I saw the Silver Top of his Staff unexpectedly fall to the Ground, which was took up by Mr. Rushworth; but when I heard Bradshaw the Judge say to his Majesty.

Sir, Instead of answering the Court, you interrogate their Power, which becomes not one in your Condition.

These Words pierced my Heart and Soul, to hear a Subject thus audaciously to reprehend his Sovereign, who ever and anon replied with great Magnanimity and Prudence.

After that his Majesty was beheaded, the Parliament for some Years affected nothing either for the publick Peace or Tranquillity of the Nation, or settling Religion as they had formerly promised. The Interval of Time betwixt his Majesty's Death and Oliver Cromwell's displacing them, was wholly consumed in Voting for themselves, and bringing their own Relations to be Members of Parliament, thinking to make a Trade thereof.

The Week, or three or four Days before his Majesty's Beheading, one Major Sydenham, who had Commands in Scotland, came to take his leave of me, and told me the King was to be put to death, which I was not willing to believe, and said, I could not be perswaded the Parliament could find any Englishman so barbarous, that would do that foul Action; rather (saith he) than they should want such a Man, these Arms of mine should do it. He went presently after into Scotland, and upon the first Engagement against them, was slain, and his Body miserably cut and mangled.

In 1651 I published Monarchy or no Monarchy, and in the latter end thereof some Hieroglyphicks of my own, compos'd at spare time, by the accult Learning, many of those Types having Representations of what should from thence succeed in England, and have since had Verification.

I had not that Learning from Books, or any Manuscript I ever yet met withal, it is reduced from a Cabal lodging in Astrology, but so mysterious and difficult to be attained, that I have not yet been acquainted with any who had that Knowledge. I will say no more thereof, but that the Asterisms and Signs and Constellations give greatest Light thereunto.

During Bradshaw's being President of the Council of State, it was my Happiness to procure Captain Wharton his Liberty, which when Bradshaw understood, said I will be an Enemy to Lilly, if ever he come before me: Sir Bolstrode Whitlock broke the Ice first of all on behalf of Captain Wharton, after him the Committee, unto whom his Offence had been committed, spoke for him, and said he might well be bailed or enlarged; I had spoken to the Committee the morning of his Delivery, who thereupon were so civil unto him, especially Sir William Ermin of Lincolnshire, who at first wondred I appear'd not against him; but upon my humble Request, my long continued Antagonist was enlarged and had his Liberty.

In 1651 I purchased 110*l.* per Annum in Fee Farm Rents for One Thousand and Thirty Pounds; I paid all in ready Money; but when his Majesty K. Charles the Second, 1660, was restored, I lost it all again, and it returned to the right Owner; the Loss thereof never afflicted me, for I have ever reduced my Mind according to my Fortune. I was drawn in by several Persons to make that simple Purchase. The Year I bought it, I had my Ascendant directed into a Trine of Jupiter first, and in the same Year into the Cauda Draconis—my Fortune into a Quadrant of Mercury. When Colchester was besieged, John Booker and my self were sent for, where we encouraged the Soldiers, assuring them the Town would very shortly be surrendered, as indeed it was: I would willingly have obtained Leave to enter the Town, to have informed Sir Charles Lucas, whom I well knew, with the Condition of Affairs as they then stood, he being deluded by false Intelligence; at that time my Scholar Humfreys was therein, who many times deluded the Governor with Expectation of Relief; but failing very many times with his Lyes, at last he had the Bastinado, was put in Prison, and inforced to become a Soldier; and well it was he escaped so.—During my being there, the Steeple of St. Mary's Church was much battered by two Cannons purposely placed; I was there one Day about Three of the Clock in the Afternoon, talking with the Canoneer, when presently he desired us to look to our selves, for he perceived by his Prospective-Glass there was a Piece charged in the Castle against his Work, and ready to be discharged; I ran for haste under an old Ash-tree, and immediately the Cannon-bullet came hissing quite over us; no Danger now, saith the Gunner, but be-

begone, for there are five more charging, which was true; for Two Hours after those Cannons were discharged, and unluckily killed our Cannoner and Montross. I came the next Morning and saw the Blood of the two poor Men lie upon the Planks; we were well entertained at the Head Quarters, and after two whole Days abiding there, came for London.

But we prosecute our Story again, and say that in the Year 1652 I purchased my House and some Lands in Herstham, in the Parish of Walton upon Thames, in the County of Surrey, where I now live; intending by the Blessing of God, when I found it convenient, to retire into the Country, there to end my Days in Peace and Tranquillity; for in London my Practice was such, I had none or very little Time afforded me to serve God, who had been so gracious unto me. The Purchase of the House and Lands, and Building, stood me in Nine Hundred and Fifty Pounds Sterling, which I have very much augmented.

The Parliament now grows odious unto all good Men, the Members whereof became insufferable in their Pride, Covetousness, Self-ends, Laziness, minding nothing but how to enrich themselves; much Heart-burning now arose betwixt the Presbyterian and Independant, the latter siding with the Army, betwixt whose two Judgments there was no Medium: Now came up, or first appeared, that monstrous People called Ranters, and many other Novel Opinions in themselves heretical and scandalous, were countenanced by Members of Parliament, many whereof were of the same Judgment; Justice was neglected, Vice countenanced, all Care of the common Good laid aside; every Judgment almost groaned under the heavy Burthen they then suffered; the Army neglected; the City of London scorned the Ministry, especially those who were orthodox and serious, honest or vertuous, had not Countenance ; my Soul began to loath the very Name of a Parliament, or Parliament-Men ; there yet remained in the House very able, judicious, and worthy Patriots ; but they, by their Silence, only served themselves, all was carried on by a Rabble of Dunces, who being the greater Number, voted what seemed best to their non intelligent Fancies.

In this Year I published Annus Tenebrosus, which Book I did not so entitle, because of the great Obscurity of the Solar Eclipse, by so many prated of to no purpose, but because of those under-hand and clandestine Counsels held in England by the Soldiery, of which I would never, but in Generals, give any Knowledge unto any Parliament Man. I had wrote publickly in 1650, that the Parliament should not continue, but a New Government should arise, &c.

In my next Year's Anglicus, upon rational Grounds in Astrology, I was so bold as to aver therein, that the Parliament stood upon a tottering Foundation, and that the Commonalty and Soldiery would joyn together against them.

My Anglicus was for a whole Week every Day in the Parliament House, peeped into by the Presbyterians, one disliking this Sentence, another finds another Fault, others misliked the whole ; so in the End a Motion was made, that Anglicus should be inspected by the Committee for plundered Ministers ; which being done, they were to return them to the House, viz. report its Errors.

A Messenger attached me by a Warrant from that Committee ; I had private notice 'ere the Messenger came, and hasted unto Mr. Speaker Lenthall, ever my Friend ; he was exceeding glad to see me, told me what was done ; called for Anglicus, marked the Passages which tormented the Presbyterians so highly ; I presently sent for Mr. Warren

the Printer, an assured Cavalier, obliterated what was most offensive, put in other more significant Words, and desired only to have six amended against next Morning, which very honestly he brought me. I told him my Design was to deny the Book found fault with, to own only the Six Books. I told him, I doubted he would be examined. 'Hang them,' said he, they are all 'Rogues, I'll swear my self to the Devil 'ere they shall have an Advantage against you by my Oath.

The Day after, I appeared before the Committee, being 36 in Number that Day, whereas it was observed, at other Times, it was very difficult to get Five of them together. At first they shewed me the true Anglicus, and asked if I wrote and printed it. I took the Book and inspected it very heedfully; and, when I had done so, said thus;

'This is none of my Book, some malicious Presbyterian hath wrote it, who are my mortal Enemies; I disown it.' The Committee look'd upon one another like distracted Men, not imagining what I presently did; for I presently pull'd out of my Pocket six Books, and said, 'These I own, the others are Counterfeits, published purposely to ruin me.' The Committee were now more vexed than before: Not one Word was spoke a good while; at last, many of them, or the greatest Number of them, were of Opinion to imprison me: Some were for Newgate, others for the Gate-house; but then one Brown of Suffex, called the Presbyterian Beadle, whom the Company of Stationers had bribed to be my Friend, by giving him a new Book of Martyrs; he, I say, preached unto the Committee this Doctrine, That neither Newgate or the Gate-house were Prisons unto which at any time the Parliament sent Prisoners; it was most convenient for the Serjeant at Arms to take me in Custody.

Mr. Strickland, who had for many Years been the Parliament's Ambassador or Agent in Holland, when he saw how they inclined, spoke thus:

' I came purposely into the Committee this Day
' to see the Man who is so famous in those Parts
' where I have so long continued; I assure you
' his Name is famous all over Europe: I come to ' do him Justice. A Book is produced by us, and ' said to be his; He denies it; We have not ' proved it, yet will commit him. Truly this ' is great Injustice. It's likely he will write next ' Year, and acquaint the whole World with our ' Injustice; and so well he may. It's my Opini' on, first to prove the Book to be his, 'ere he
' be committed.

Another old Friend of mine, Mr. R. spoke thus;
' You do not know the many Services this Man
' hath done for the Parliament these many Years,
' or how many times, in our greatest Distresses, we ' applying unto him, he hath refreshed our lan' guishing Expectations; he never failed us of ' Comfort in our most unhappy Distresses. I ' assure you his Writings have kept up the Spi' rits both of the Soldiery, the honest People of ' this Nation, and many of us Parliament-men;
' and now at last, for a slip of his Pen (if it were
' his) to be thus violent against him; I must tell
' you, I fear the Consequence urged out of the ' Book will prove effectually true. It's my Coun' sel, to admonish him hereafter to be more wary,
' and for the present to dismiss him.

Notwithstanding any thing that was spoken on my Behalf, I was ordered to stand committed to the Serjeant at Arms. The Messenger attached my Person, said I was his Prisoner; As he was carrying me away, he was called to bring me again. Oliver Cromwell, Lieutenant-General of the Army, having never seen me, caused me to be produced again, where he stedtastly beheld me for a good

a good Space, and then I went with the Messenger ; but instantly a young Clerk of that Committee asks the Messenger what he did with me, Where's the Warrant ? until that is signed you cannot seize Mr. Lilly, or shall : Will you have an Action of false Imprisonment against you ? So I escaped that Night, but next Day obeyed the Warrant. That Night Oliver Cromwell went to Mr. R. my Friend, and said, What never a Man to take Lilly's Cause in hand but your self ? None to take his Part but you ? He shall not be long there. Hugh Peters spoke much in my Behalf to the Committee ; but they were resolved to lodge me in the Serjeant's Custody. One Millington, a drunken Member, was much my Enemy ; and so was Cawley and Chichester, a deformed Fellow, unto whom I had done several Courtesies.

First Thirteen Days I was a Prisoner ; and tho' every Day of the Committees Sitting I had a Petition to deliver, yet so many churlish Presbyterians still appeared, I could not get it accepted. The last Day of the Thirteen, Mr. Joseph Ash was made Chair-man, unto whom my Cause being related, he took my Petition, and said I should be bailed in despite of them all, but desired I would procure as many Friends as I could to be there. Sir Arthur Hazelrigg, and Major Salloway, a Person of excellent Parts, appeared for me, and many now of my old Friends came in. After two whole Hours arguing of my Cause by Sir Arthur and Major Salloway, and other Friends, the Matter came to this Point ; I should be bailed, and a Committee nominated to examine the Printer. The Order of the Committee being brought afterwards to him who should be Chair-man, he sent me Word, Do what I would, he would see all the Knaves hanged, ere he would examine the Printer. This is the Truth of the Story.

The 16th of February 165 $\frac{3}{4}$, my second Wife died; for whose Death I shed no Tears. I had 500*l.* with her as a Portion, but she and her poor Relations spent me 1000*l.* Gloria Patri, & Filio, & Spiritui Sancto: sicut erat in principio & nunc & semper, & in sæcula sæculorum: For the 20th of April 1653, these Enemies of mine, viz. Parliament-men, were turned out of Doors by Oliver Cromwell. A German Doctor of Physick being then in London, sent me this Paper:

Strophe Alcaica: Generoso Domino Gulielmo Lillie Astrologo, de dissoluto nuper Parlamento.

*Quod calculasti Sydere prævio,
Miles peregit numine conscio,
Gentis videmus nunc Senatum, Marte Togaq; gravi levatum.*

In the Time of my Imprisonment, Mr. Rushworth came to visit me, and told me, the Army would do as much as I had predicted unto the Parliament.

In October 1654, I married the third Wife, who is signified in my Nativity by Jupiter in Libra: And she is so totally in her Conditions, to my great Comfort.

In 1655, I was indicted at Hicks's-Hall by a half-witted young Woman: Three several Sessions she was neglected, and the Jury cast forth her Bill; but the fourth time, they found it against me; I put in Bail to traverse the Indictment. The Cause of the Indictment was, For that I had given Judgment upon stolen Goods, and received 2*s.* 6*d.*— And this was said to be contrary unto an Act in King James's Time made.

This mad Woman was put upon this Action against me by two Ministers, who had framed for her a very ingenious Speech, which she could ſpeak without Book, as ſhe did the Day of hearing the Traverſe. She produced one Woman, who told the Court, a Son of her's was run from her; that being in much Affliction of Mind for her Loſs, ſhe repaired unto me to know what was become of him; that I told her he was gone for the Barbadoes, and ſhe would hear of him within 13 Days; which, ſhe ſaid, ſhe did.

A Second Woman made Oath, That her Husband being wanting two Years, ſhe repaired to me for Advice: That I told her he was in Ireland, and would be at Home ſuch a Time; and, ſaid ſhe, he did come home accordingly.

I owned the taking of Half-a-Crown for my Judgment of the Theft; but ſaid, I gave no other Judgment, but that the Goods would not be recovered, being that was all which was required of me; the Party, before that having been with ſeveral Aſtrologers, ſome affirming ſhe ſhould have her Goods again, others gave contrary Judgment, which made her come unto me for a final Reſolution.

At laſt my Enemy began her before-made Speech, and, without the leaſt ſtumbling, pronounced it before the Court; which ended, ſhe had ſome Queries put unto her, and then I ſpoke for my ſelf, and produced my own Introduction into Court, ſaying, That I had ſome Years before emitted that Book for the Benefit of this and other Nations; that it was allowed by Authority, and had found good Acceptance in both Universities; that the Study of Aſtrology was lawful, and not contradicted by any Scripture; that I neither had, or ever did, uſe any Charms, Sorceries, or Inchantments related in the Bill of Indictment, &c.

She then related, That ſhe had been ſeveral times with me, and that afterwards ſhe could not reſt a Nights, but was troubled with Bears, Lions, and Tygers, &c. My Council was the Recorder corder Green, who after he had answered all Objections, concluded, Astrology was a lawful Art.

Mistress, said he, What Colour was those Beasts that you were so terrified with?

I never saw any (said she).

How do you then know they were Lions, Tygers or Bears, reply'd he.—This is an idle Person, only fit for Bedlam. The Jury who went not from the Bar, brought in, No true Bill.

There were many Presbyterian Justices much for her, and especially one Roberts, a busie Fellow for the Parliament, who after his Majesty came in, had like to have lost Life and Fortune.

I had procured Justice Hooker to be there, who was the Oracle of all the Justices of Peace in Middlesex.

There was nothing memorable, after that happened unto me, until 1650, and the Month of October, at what time Captain Owen Cox brought me over from his Majesty of Sweden, a Gold Chain and Medal, worth about 50 l. the Cause whereof was, that in the Year 1657, and 1658, I had made honourable Mention of him; the Anglicus of 1658 being translated into the Language spoke at Hamburg, printed and cry'd about the Streets, as it is in London.

The Occasion of my writing so honourably of his Majesty of Sweden was this; Sir Bulstrode Whitlock, Knight, upon the very time of Oliver's being made Protector, having made very noble Articles betwixt Christina then Queen of Sweden, and the English Nation, was in his being at Stockholm visited frequently by Charles Gustavus, unto whom Christina resigned during his abroad, and used with all manner of Civility by him, insomuch as some other Ambassadors took it ill, that they had not so much Respect or Equal, unto which he would reply, he would be kind where himself did find just Cause of Merit unto any : He was a great Lover of our Nation, but there was some other Causes also moving my Pen to be so liberal, viz. The great Hopes I had of his prevailing, and of taking Copenhagen and Elsinore, which if he had lived, was hoped he might have accomplished; and had assuredly done, if Oliver the Protector had not so untimely died 'ere our Fleet of Ships returned; for Oliver sent the Fleet of purpose to fight the Dutch; but dying, and the Parliament being restored, Sir Henry Vane, who afterwards was beheaded, had Order from the Council of State to give Order to the Fleet what to do now Oliver was dead, and themselves restored : Vane, out of State-Policy, gave the Earl of Sandwich Direction not to fight the Dutch : Captain Symons, who carried those Letters, swore unto me, had he known the Letters he carried had contained any such Prohibition, he would have sunk both Ship and Letters. Oliver said, when the Fleet was to go forth, ' That if God blessed his Majesty of Sweden with Copenhagen, the English were to have Elsinore as their Share; which if once I have, (saith Oliver) the English shall have the whole Trade of the Baltick Sea; I will make the Dutch find another Passage, except they will pay such Customs as I shall impose. Considering the Advantages this would have been to our English, who can blame my Pen for being liberal thereby to have encouraged our famous and noble Seamen, or for writing so honourably of the Swedish Nation, who had most courteously treated my best of Friends, Sir Bulstrode Whitlock, and by whose Means, had the Design taken Effect, the English Nation had been made happy with the most beneficial Concern of all Christendom. I shall conclude about Oliver the then Protector, with whom obliquely I had Transactions by his Son-in-law, Mr. Gleypool; and to speak truly of him, him, he sent one that waited upon him in his Chamber, once in two or three Days, to hear how it fared with me in my Session's Business; but I never had of him, directly or indirectly, either Pension, or any the least Sum of Money, or any Gratuity during his whole Protectorship; this I protest to be true, by the Name and in the Name of the most holy God.

In 1653, before the Dissolution of the Parliament, and that 'ere they had chosen any for their Ambassador into Sweden, Mr Cleypool came unto me, demanding of me whom I thought fittest to send upon that Ambassy into Sweden; I nominated Sir B. Whitlock, who was chosen, and two or three Days after Mr. Cleypool came again; I hope Mr. Lilly, my Father, hath now pleased you; your Friend Sir B. Whitlock is to go for Sweden. But since I have mentioned Oliver Cromwell, I will relate something of him, which perhaps no other Pen can, or will mention: He was born of generous Parents in Huntingdonshire, educated some time at the University of Cambridge; in his Youth was wholly given to Debauchery, Quarrelling, Drinking, &c. quid non; having by those means wasted his Patrimony, he was enforced to bethink himself of leaving England and go to New-England; he had hired Passage in a Ship, but 'ere she launched out for her Voyage, a Kinsman dieth, leaving him a considerable Fortune; upon which he returns, pays his Debts, became affected to Religion; is elected in 1640 a Member of Parliament, in 1642 made a Captain of Horse under Sir Philip Stapleton, fought at Edge-Hill; after he was made a Colonel, then Lieutenant-General to the Earl of Manchester, who was one of the three Generals to fight the Earl of Newcastle and Prince Rupert at York: Ferdinando Lord Fairfax, and Earl Leven the Scot, were the other two for the Parliament; the last two thinking all had been lost at Marston-Moor Fight, Fairfax went into Cawood Castle, giving all for lost; at Twelve at Night there came Word of the Parliament's Victory; Fairfax being then laid down upon a Bed, there was not a Candle in the Castle, nor any Fire; up riseth Lord Fairfax, procures after some time, Paper, Ink, and Candle, writes to Hull, and other Garrisons of the Parliament's, of the Success, and then slept.

Leven the Scot ask'd the Way to Tweed; the Honour of that Day's Fight was given to Manchester, Sir Thomas Fairfax his Brigade of Horse, and Oliver Cromwell his Iron Sides; for Cromwell's Horse, in those Times, usually wore Head-pieces, Back and Breast-plates of Iron. After this Victory Cromwell became gracious with the House of Commons, especially the Zealots, or Presbyterians, with whom at that time he especially joined; the Name Independent, at that Time, viz. 1644, being not so much spoken of.

There was some Animosity at or before the Fight, betwixt the Earl of Newcastle and Prince Rupert; for Newcastle being General of his Majesty's Forces in the North, a Person of Valour, and well esteemed in those Parts, took it not well to have a Competitor in his Concernments; for if the Victory should fall on his Majesty's Side, Prince Rupert's Forces would attribute it unto their own General, viz. Rupert, and give him the Glory thereof; but that it happened, Prince Rupert, in that Day's Fight, engaged the Parliaments Forces too soon, and before the Earl of Newcastle could well come out of York with his Army; by reason whereof, though Rupert had absolutely routed the Scots and the Lord Fairfax's Forces; yet ere timely Assistance could second his Army, Sir Tho' Fairfax and Cromwell had put him to flight, and not long after all Newcastle's Army. Amongst the most memorable Actions of that Day's this happen'd, that one intire Regiment of Foot belonging longing to Newcastle, called the Lambs, because they were all new cloathed in white Woolleir Cloth, two or three Days before the Fight: This sole Regiment, after the Day was lost, having got into a small Parcel of Ground ditched in, and not of easie Access of Horse, would take no Quarter; and by mere Valour, for one whole Hour, kept the Troops of Horse from entring amongst them at near push of Pike; when the Horse did enter, they would have no Quarter, but fought it out till there was not Thirty of them living; those whose Hap it was to be beaten down upon the Ground as the Troopers came near them, though they could not rise for their Wounds, yet were so desperate as to get either a Pike or Sword, or Piece of them, and to gore the Troopers Horses as they came over them, or passed by them. Captain Camby, then a Trooper under Cromwell, and an Actor, who was the third or fourth Man that entred amongst them, protested, he never in all the Fights he was in, met with such resolute brave Fellows, or whom he pittyd so much, and said, he saved two or three against their Wills.

After the Fight Manchester marched slowly Southward, &c. but at last came with his Army to Newbury Fight; which ended, he came for London, and there he accuseth Cromwell, being his Lieutenant, to the Parliament, of Disobedience, and not obeying his Orders.

The House of Commons acquaint Cromwell herewith, and charge him, as he would answer it before God, that the Day following he should give them a full Account of Manchester's Proceedings, and the Cause and Occasion of their Difference, and of the Reasons why Manchester did not timely move Westward for the Relief of Essex, then in the West, who was absolutely routed, inforced to fly, all his Foot taken, and all his Ordinance and Train of Artillery, only the Horse escaping.

Cromwell the next Day gave this Account to Mr. Speaker in the House of Commons— by way of Recrimination.

That after God had given them a successful Victory at Marston over the King's Forces, and that they had well refreshed their Army, Manchester, by their Order, did move Southward, but with such Slowness, that sometimes he would not march for three Days together; sometimes he would lie still one Day, then two Days; whereupon he said, considering the Earl of Essex was in the West, with what Success he then knew not, he moved Manchester several times to quicken his March to the West, for Relief of Essex, if he were beaten, or to divert the King's Forces from following of Essex; but he said Manchester still refused to make any Hasten; and that one Day he said, if any Man but your self, Lieutenant, should so frequently trouble me, I would call him before a Council of War: We have beaten the King's Forces in the North; if we should do so in the West, his Majesty is then undone: He hath many Sons living; if any of them come to the Crown, as they well may, they will never forget us. This Major Hammond, a Man of Honour, will justify as well as my self. After which he marched not at all, until he had Order from the Committee to hasten Westward, by reason of Essex his being lost in Cornwall, which then he did; and at Newbury Fight, 'tis true, I refused to obey his Directions and Order; for this it was, his Majesty's Horse being betwixt four and five Thousand in a large Common, in good Order: He commands me, Mr. Speaker, to charge them; we having no way to come at them but through a narrow Lane, where not above three Horse could march a Breast; whereby had I followed his Order, we had been all cut off 'ere we could have got into any Order, Mr. Speaker, and then he wept; (which he could do toties quoties) I considering that all the visible Army you then had, was by this Council in danger to be lost; refused thus to indanger the main Strength, which now most of all consisted of those Horse under my Command, &c. This his Recrimination was well accepted by the House of Commons, who thereupon, and from that Time, thought there was none of the House of Lords, very fit to be intrusted with their future Armies, but had then Thoughts of making a Commoner their General; which afterwards they did, and elected Sir Thomas Fairfax their General, and Cromwell Lieutenant-General; but it was next Spring first. Upon Essex his being lost in Cornwall, I heard Serjeant Maynard say, "If now the King haste to London we are undone, having no Army to resist him.

His Majesty had many Misfortunes ever attending him, during his Aboad at Oxford; some by reason of that great Animosity betwixt Prince Rupert and the Lord Digby, each endeavouring to cross one another; but the worst of all was by Treachery of several Officers under his Command, and in his Service; for the Parliament had in continual Pay one Colonel of the King's Council of War; one Lieutenant-Colonel; one Captain; one Ensign; one or two Serjeants; several Corporals, who had constant Pay, and duly paid them every Month, according to the Capacity of their Offices and Places, and yet none of these knew any thing of each other's being so imploy'd. There were several Well-wishers unto the Parliament in Oxford, where each left his Letter, putting it in at the Hole of a Glass-window, as he made Water in the Street: What was put in at the Window in any of those Houses, was the same Day conveyed two Miles off by some in the Habit of Town-Gardners, to the Side of a Ditch, where one or more were ever ready to give the Intelligence to the next Parliament Garrison: I was then familiar with all the Spies that constantly went in and out to Oxford.

But once more to my own Actions I had in 1652 and 1653; and 1654 much Contention with Mr. Gatacre of Redriff, a Man endued with all kind of Learning, and the ablest Man of the whole Synod of Divines in the Oriental Tongues.

The Synod had concluded to make an Exposition upon the Bible; some undertook one Book, some another. Gatacre fell upon Jeremy, upon making his Exposition on the 2d Verse of the 10th Chapter.

Learn not the Way of the Heathen, and be not dismay'd at the Signs of Heaven, for the Heathen are dismay'd at them.

In his Annotations thereupon, he makes a scandalous Exposition; and in express Terms, hints at me, repeating verbatim, ten or twelve Times, an Epistle of mine in one of my Former Anglicus.

The Substance of my Epistle was, That I did conceive the good Angels of God, did first reveal Astrology unto Mankind, &c. but he in his Annotations calls me blind Buzzard, &c.

Having now Liberty of the Press, and hearing the old Man was very choleric, I thought fit to raise it up — and only wrote — I referred my Discourse then in Hand to the Discussion and Judgment of sober Persons, but not unto Thomas Wiseacre, for Senes bis pueri: These very Words begot the writing of forty-two Sheets against my self and Astrology. The next Year I quibled again in three or four Lines against him, then he printed twenty-two Sheets against me. I was perswaded by Dr. Gauden, late Bishop of Exeter, to let him alone;

alone; but in my next Year's Anglicus, in August Observations, I wrote, Hoc in tumba jacet Presbyter & Nebulo, in which very Month he died.

Several Divines applied themselves unto me, desiring me to forbear any further vexing of Mr. Gatacre; but all of them did as much condemn him of Indiscretion, that in so sober a Piece of Work as that was, viz. in an Annotation upon a sacred Text of Scripture to particularize me and in that dirty Language; they pittied him, that he had not better considered with himself ere he published it.

Dean Owen of Christ's-Church in Oxford, also in his Sermons had sharp Invectives against me and Astrology; I cry'd quittance with him, by urging Abbot Panormitan his Judgment of Astrology contrary to Owen's, and concluded, An Abbot was an Ace above a Dean.

One Mr. Nye of the Assembly of Divines, a Jesuitical Presbyterian, bleated forth his Judgment publickly against me and Astrology; to be quit with him, I urged Causinus the Jesuit his Approbation of Astrology, and concluded, Sic canibus catulos, &c.

In some time after the Dutch Embassador was offended with some things in Anglicus, presented a Memorial to the Council of State, that Merlinus Anglicus might be considered, and the Abuses against their Nation examined; but his Paper was not accepted of, or I any way molested.

In Oliver's Protectorship, I wrote freely and satirical enough; he was now become Independant, and all the Soldiery my Friends; for when he was in Scotland, the Day of one of their Fights, a Soldier stood with Anglicus in his Hand; and as the several Troops pass'd by him, "Lo, hear what Lilly saith; you are in this Month promised Victory, fight it out, brave Boys, and then read that Month's Prediction.

I had long before predicted the Downfal of Presbytery, as you (most honoured Sir) in the Figure thereof, in my Introduction, may observe; and it was upon this Occasion. Sir Thomas Middleton of Chark Castle, Enemy to Presbytery, seeing they much prevailed, being a Member of the House, seriously demanded my Judgment, if Presbytery should prevail, or not, in England? The Figure printed in my Introduction, will best give you an Account, long before it happened, of the sinking and failing of Presbytery; so will the second Page of my Hieroglyphicks. Those Men, to be serious, would preach well; but they were more Lordly than Bishops, and usually, in their Parishes, more Tyrannical than the Great Turk.

Of the Year 1660; the Actions whereof, as they were remarkable in England, so were they no less memorable as to my particular Fortune and Person.

Upon the Lord General Monk's returning from Scotland with his Army into England, suddenly after his coming to London, Richard Cromwell, the then Protector, his Authority was laid aside, and the old Parliament restored; the Council of State sat as formerly. The first Act they put the General upon, was, to take down the City Gates and Portcullises, an Act which, the General said, was fitter for a Janizary to do than for a General; yet he effected the Commands received, and then lodged in the City with his Army. The Citizens took this pulling down of their Gates so heinously, that one Night the ruder sort of them procured all the Rumps of Beef, and other Baggage, and publickly burnt them in the Streets, in Derision of the then Parliament, calling them that now sat, The Rump. This Hurly-burly was managed as well by the General's Soldiers as the Citizens. The King's Health was publickly drank all over

over the City, to the Confusion of the Parliament. The Matter continued until Midnight, or longer. The Council of State, sitting at White-hall, had hereof no Knowledge, until Sir Martin Noell, a discreet Citizen, came about Nine at Night, and then first informed them thereof: The Council could not believe it, until they had sent some Ministers of their own, who affirmed the Verity thereof: They were at a Stand, and could not resolve what to do; at last Nevil Smith came, being one of them, and publickly protested there was but one Way to regain their Authority, and to be revenged of this Affront, and to overthrow the Lord General Monk, whom they now perceived intended otherways than he had pretended; his Counsel was, To take away Monk's Commission, and to give a present Commission to Major-General Lambert to be their General; which Counsel of his, if they would take and put it speedily in Execution, would put an end unto all the present Mischiefs. The Council in general did all very well approve Nevil Smith's Judgment; but presently up starts Sir Arthur Hazellrigg, and makes a sharp Invective against Lambert, and concluded, he would rather perish under the King of Scots Power, than that Lambert should ever any more have Command under the Parliament.

The Lord General suddenly after brings in the long excluded Members to sit in Parliament, being Persons of great Judgment, and formerly enforced from sitting therein by the Soldiery, and Connivance of those who stiled themselves the Godly Party of the Parliament. These Honourable Patriots presently voted his Majesty's Coming into England, and so he did in May 1660. But because Charles the Second, now (1667.) King of England, Son of Charles the First, Grand-child to James the First, King of Great-Brittany, was so miraculously restored, and so many Hundreds of Years since pro

prophefied of by Ambrofe Merlin, it will not be impertinent to mention the Prophecies themfelves, the rather becaufe we have feen their Verification.

Ambrofe Merlin his Prophecy wrote about 990 Years fince.

He calls King James, The Lion of Righteousnefs; and faith, When he died, or was dead, there would reign a noble White King; this was Charles the Firft. The Prophet discovers all his Troubles, his flying up and down, his Imprifonment, his Death; and calls him Aquila. What concerns Charles the Second, is the Subject of our Difcourfe: In the Latin Copy it's thus;

Deinde ab Austro veniet cum Sole super ligneos equos, & super spumantem inundationem maris, Pullus Aquilæ navigans in Britanniam.

Et applicans statim tunc altam domum Aquilæ fitiens, & cito aliam fitiet.

Deinde Pullus Aquilæ nidificabit in summa rupe totius Britanniæ: nec juvenis occidet, nec ad senem vivet.

This, in an old Copy, is Englifhed thus;

' After then, shall come through the South with
' the Sun, on Horse of Tree, and upon all Waves
' of the Sea, the Chicken of the Eagle, sailing into ' Britain, and arriving anon to the House of ' the Eagle, he shall shew Fellowship to them
' Beasts.

' After, the Chicken of the Eagle shall nestle in
' the highest Rock of all Britain; nay, he shall
' nought be slain young; nay, he nought come
' old.

Another Latin Copy renders the last Verse thus;

Deindè pullus Aquilæ nidificabit in summo rupium, nec juvenis occidetur, nec ad senium perveniet. There is after this, pacificato regno, Omnes occidet; which is intended of those Persons put to death, that sat as Judges upon his Father's Death.

The Verification.

His Majesty being in the Low-Countries when the Lord General had restored the Secluded Members, the Parliament sent Part of the Royal Navy to bring him for England, which they did in May 1660. Holland is East from England, so he came with the Sun; but he landed at Dover, a Port in the South Part of England. Woodden-Horses, are the English Ships.

Tunc nidificabit in summo rupium.

The Lord General, and most of the Gentry in England, met him in Kent, and brought him unto London, then to White-hall.

Here, by the highest Rooch, some write Rock,) is intended London, being the Metropolis of all England.

Since which Time, unto this very Day I write this Story, he hath reigned in England, and long may he do hereafter. 10 December 1667.

Had I Leisure, I might verify the whole preceding Part concerning King Charles. Much of the Verification thereof is mentioned in my Collection of Prophecies, printed 1645. But his Majesty being then alive, I forbore much of that Subject, not willing to give Offence. I dedicated that Book unto Him; and, in the Conclusion thereof, I advised his Return unto Parliament, with these Words, Fac hoc & vires.

There was also a Prophecy printed 1588, in Greek Characters, exactly decyphering the long Troubles the English Nation had from 1641 until 1660; and then it ended thus.

And after that shall come a dreadful dead Man, and with him a Royal G. [it's Gamma in the Greek, intending C, in the Latin, being the third Letter
in

in the Alphabet,] of the best Blood in the World, and he shall have the Crown, and shall set England on the right Way, and put out all Heresies.

Monkery being extinguished above 80 or 90 Years, and the Lord General's Name being Monk, is the Dead Man. The Royal G. or C. is Charles the Second, who, for his Extraction, may be said to be of the best Blood in the World.

These two Prophecies were not given vocally by the Angels, but by Inspection of the Crystal in Types and Figures, or by Apparition the Circular way, where, at some Distance, the Angels appear, representing by Forms, Shapes, and Creatures, what is demanded: It is very rare, yea, even in our Days, for any Operator or Master to have the Angels speak articulately; when they do speak, it's like the Irish, much in the Throat.

What further concerns his Majesty, will more fully be evident about 1672 or 1674, or, at farthest, in 1676. And now unto my own Actions in 1660.

In the first Place, my Fee-Farm Rents, being of the Yearly Value of 120 l. were all lost by his Majesty's coming to his Restoration; but I do say truly, the Loss thereof did never trouble me, or did I repine thereat.

In June of that Year, a new Parliament was called, whereunto I was unwillingly invited by two Messengers of the Serjeant at Arms. The Matter whereupon I was taken into Custody, was, to examine me concerning the Person who cut off the King's Head, viz. the late King's.

Sir Daniel Harvey, of Surrey, got the Business moved against me in great Displeasure, because, at the Election of new Knights for Surrey, I procured the whole Town of Walton to stand, and give their Voices, for Sir Richard Onslow. The Committee to examine me, were Mr. Prinn, one Colonel King, and Mr. Richard Weston of Gray's-Inn.

God's

God's Providence appeared very much for me that Day, for walking in Westminster-Hall, Mr. Richard Pennington, Son to my old Friend Mr. William Pennington, met me, and enquiring the Cause of my being there, said no more, but walked up and down the Hall, and related my kindness to his Father unto very many Parliament-men of Cheshire and Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cumberland, and those Northern Countries, who numerously came up into the Speaker's Chamber, and bad me be of good comfort; at last he meets Mr. Weston, one of the three unto whom my Matter was referred for Examination, who told Mr. Pennington, that he came purposely to punish me, and would be bitter against me; but hearing it related, viz. my singular Kindness and Preservation of old Mr. Pennington's Estate, to the Value of Six or Seven Thousand Pounds, I'll do him all the Good I can, says he, I thought he had never done any Good; let me see him, and let him stand behind me where I sit: I did so. At my first Appearance, many of the young Members affronted me highly, and demanded several scurrillous Questions. Mr. Weston held a Paper before his Mouth; bad me answer no Body but Mr. Prinn; I obeyed his Command, and saved my self much Trouble thereby; and when Mr. Prinn put any difficult or doubtful Query unto me, Mr. Weston prompted me with a fit Answer; at last, after almost one Hour's tugging, I desired to be fully heard what I could say as to the Person who cut Charles the First his Head off. Liberty being given me to speak, I related what follows, viz.

That the next Sunday but one after Charles the First was beheaded, Robert Spavin, Secretary unto Lieutenant-General Cromwell at that Time, invited himself to dine with me, and brought Anthony Peirson, and several others, along with him to Dinner: That their principal Discourse all Dinner-

ner-time, was only, who it was that beheaded
 the King; one said it was the common Hangman; another, Hugh Peters; others also were nominated, but none concluded. Robert Spavin, so soon as Dinner was done, took me by the Hand, and carried me to the South Window; saith he,
 ' These are all mistaken, they have not named the
 ' Man that did the Fact; it was Lieutenant-Colo' nel FORCE; I was in the Room when he fitted
 ' himself for the Work, stood behind him when
 ' he did it; when done, went in again with him:
 ' There's no Man knows this but my Master, viz.
 ' Cromwell, Commissary Ireton, and my self. Doth not Mr. Rushworth know it? said I. No, he doth not know it, saith Spavin. The same Thing Spa- vin since had often related unto me when we were alone. Mr. Prinn did, with much Civility, make a Report hereof in the House; yet Norfolk
 the Serjeant, after my Discharge, kept me two Days longer in Arrest, purposely to get Money
 of me: He had Six Pounds, and his Messenger Forty Shillings; and yet I was attached but upon Sunday, examined on Tuesday, and then discharged, though the covetous Serjeant detained me until Thursday: By means of a Friend, I cried Quittance with Norfolk, which Friend was to pay him his Salary at that Time, and abated Norfolk Three Pounds, which we spent every Penny at one Dinner, without inviting the wretched Serjeant; but in the latter End of the Year, when the King's Judges were arraigned at the Old-Bayly, Norfolk warned me to attend, believing I could give Information concerning Hugh Peters; at the Sessions
 I attended during its Continuance, but was never called or examined: There I heard Harrison, Scott, Clement, Peters, Hacker, Scroop, and others of the King's Judges, and Cook the Sollicitor, who excellently defended himself; I say, I did hear what they could say for themselves, and after heard
 the

the Sentence of Condemnation pronounced against them by the incomparably modest and learned Judge Bridgman, now Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England.

One would think my Troubles for that Year had been ended; but in January 166½, one Everard, a Justice of Peace in Westminster, 'ere I was stirring, sent a Serjeant and 34 Musqueteers for me to White-hall; he had twice that Night seized about Sixty Persons, supposed Fanaticks, very despicable Persons, many whereof were Aged, some were Water-bearers, and had been Parliament-Soldiers; others, of ordinary Callings: all these were guarded unto White-hall, into a large Room, until Day-light, and then committed to the Gate-house; I was had into the Guard-Room, which I thought to be Hell; some therein were sleeping, others swearing, others smoaking Tobacco. In the Chimney of the Room I believe there was two Bushels of broken Tobacco-Pipes, almost half one Load of Ashes. Everard, about Nine in the Morning, comes, writes my Mittimus for the Gate-house, then shews it me; I must be contented, I desired no other Courtesy, but that I might be privately carry'd unto the Gate-house by two Soldiers; that was denied. Amongst the miserable Crew of People, with a whole Company of Soldiers, I marched to Prison, and there for three Hours was in the open Air upon the Ground, where the common House of Office came down. After three Hours, I was advanced from this stinking Place up the Stairs, where there was on one Side a Company of rude swearing Persons; on the other Side many Quakers, who lovingly entertained me: As soon as I was fixed, I wrote to my old honoured Friend Sir Edward Walker, Garter King at Arms, who presently went to Mr. Secretary Nicholas, and acquainted him with my Condition; he ordered Sir Edward to write to Everard to release me, unless he had any particular cular Information against me, which he had not: He further said, It was not His Majesty's Pleasure that any of his Subjects should be thus had to Prison without good Cause shewed before. Upon Receipt of Sir Edward's Letter, Everard discharged me, I taking the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy. This Day's Work cost me 37 s. Afterwards Everard stood to be Burgefs for Westminster; sent to me to procure him Voices; I return'd Answer, That of all Men living he deserved no Courtesy from me, nor should have any.

In this Year 1660, I sued out my Pardon under the Broad Seal of England, being so advised by good Council, because there should be no Obstruction; I passed as William Lilly, Citizen and Salter of London; it cost me 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

There happen'd a Verification of an Astrological Judgment of mine in this Year 1660, which because it was predicted Sixteen Years before it came to pass, and the Year expressly nominated, I thought fit to mention.

In Page 111. of my Prophetical Merlin, upon three sextile Aspects of Saturn and Jupiter, made in 1659 and 1660, I wrote thus—

“ This their friendly Salutation comforts us in “ England, every Man now possesses his own Vine“ yard; Our young Youth grow up unto Man's “ Estate, and our old Men live their full Years;
 “ Our Nobles and Gentlemen root again; Our “ Yeomanry, many Years disconsolated, now take “ Pleasure in their Husbandry: The Merchant “ sends out Ships, and hath prosperous Returns;
 “ the Mechanick hath quick Trading: Here's al“ most a new World; New Laws, new Lords;
 “ Now my Country of England shall shed no more “ Tears, but rejoyce with, and in the many Bles“ sings God gives or affords her annually.

And in the same Book, Page 118, over-against the Year 1660, you shall find, A Bonny Scot acts his Part.

The

The Long Parliament would give Charles the Second no other Title than King of Scots.—

I also wrote to Sir Edward Walker, Kt. Garter King at Arms in 1659, he then being in Holland—

Tu, Dominusq; vester videbitis Angliam, infra duos Annos.— For in 1662, his Moon came by Direction to the Body of the Sun.

But he came in upon the Ascendant directed unto the Trine of Sol and Antiscion of Jupiter.—

And happy it was for the Nation he did come in, and long and prosperously may he reign amongst us.

In 1663 and 1664, I had a long and tedious Law-Suit in Chancery, M. C. coming to Quartile of Saturn; and the Occasion of that Suit, was concerning Houses, and my Enemy, tho' aged, had no Beard, was really Saturnine. We came unto a Hearing Feb. 1663, before the Master of the Rolls, Sir Harbottle Grimston, where I had the Victory, but no Costs given me.

My Adversary not satisfied with that Judgment, petition'd that most just and honourable Man the Lord Chancellor Hyde, for a Re-hearing his Cause before him.

It was granted, and the 13 June 1664, my M. C. then directed to Quartile of Venus and Sol, his Lordship most judiciously heard it with much Attention, and when my Adversary's Council had urged those Depositions which they had against me, his Lordship stood up and said,

'Here's not one Word against Mr. Lilly.—

I replied, My Lord, I hope I shall have Costs.

Very good Reason, saith he; and so I had: And, at my Departure out of Court, put off his Hat, and bid God be with you.

This is the Month of Dec. 1667, wherein, by Misfortune, he is much traduced and highly persecuted by his Enemies, is also retired, however not in the least questioned for any indirect Judgment as Chancellor, in the Chancery ; [But in other Things he hath been very foul, as in the Articles drawn up by the Parliament against him, it appears. Which Articles I presume you have not seen, otherwise you would have been of another Mind, A. W.] for there was never any Person sat in that Place, who executed Justice with more Uprightness, or Judgment, or Quickness for Dispatch, than this very Noble Lord. God, I hope, in Mercy will preserve his Person from his Enemies, and in good time restore him unto all his Honours again : From my Soul I wish it, and hope I shall live to see it. Amen : Fiat ob tu Deus justitiæ.

In 1663, and 1664, I was made Church-warden of Walton upon Thames, settling as well as I could the Affairs of that distracted Parish, upon my own Charges ; and upon my leaving the Place, forgave them 7 l. odd Money due unto me.

In 1664, I had another Law Suit with Capt. Colborn, Lord of the Manour of Esber, concerning the Rights of the Parish of Walton : He had newly purchased that Manour, and having 150 Acres of Ground, formerly Park and Wood Ground lying in our Parish, conceived, he had Right of Common in our Parish of Walton : Thereupon he puts 300 Sheep upon the Common ; part whereof I impounded : He Replevins them, gave me a Declaration, I answer'd it ; the Tryal was to be at the Assizes at Kingston in April 1664. When the Day of Tryal came, he had not one Witness in his Cause, I had many ; whereupon upon Conference, and by Mediation, he gave me Eleven Pounds for my Charges sustained in thar Suit, whereof I returned him back again 50 s. Forty Shillings for himself, and Ten Shillings for the Poor of the Parish he lived in.

This I did at my own Cost and Charges, not one Parishioner joyning with me : I had now M. C. unto Quartile of Venus and Sol—both in my Second,

Ergo,

Ergo, I got Money by this Thing, or Suit. Sir Bolstrode Whitlock gave me Council.

Now I come unto the Year 1665, wherein that horrible and devouring Plague so extremely raged in the City of London; 27th of June 1665, I retired into the Country to my Wife and Family, where since I have wholly continued, and so intend by Permission of God; I had, before I came away, very many People of the poorer Sort frequented my Lodging, many whereof were so civil, as when they brought Waters, viz. Urines, from infected People, they would stand purposely at a Distance; I ordered those infected, and not like to die, Cordials, and caused them to Sweat, whereby many recovered. My Landlord of the House was afraid of those poor People, I nothing at all; he was desirous I should be gone; he had four Children, I took them with me into the Country and provided for them: Six Weeks after I departed, he, his Wife, and Man-servant died of the Plague.

In Monarchy or no Monarchy, Printed 1651, I had framed an Hieroglyphick, which you may see in Pag. the 7th, representing a great Sicknes and Mortality; wherein you may see the Representation of People in their Winding-Sheets, Persons digging Graves and Sepultures, Coffins, &c. All this was performed by the more Secret Key of Astrology, or Prophetical Astrology.

In 1666, happened that miraculous Conflagration in the City of London, whereby in Four Days, the most part thereof was consumed by Fire. In my Monarchy or no Monarchy, the next side after the Coffins, and Pickaxes, there is Representation of a great City all in Flames of Fire. The Memorial whereof some Parliament Men remembering, thought fit to send for me before that Committee which then did Sit, for Examination of the Causes of the Fire; and whether there was no Treachery or Design in the Business, His Majesty being then in War both with the French and Dutch. The Summons to appear before that Committee was as followeth.

Monday, 22th October, 1666.

At the Committee appointed to enquire after the Causes of the late Fires.

Ordered,

That Mr. Lilly do attend this Committee on Friday next being the 25th of October 1666, at Two of the Clock in the Afternoon in the Speaker's Chamber, to answer such Questions as shall be then and there asked him.

Robert Brooke.

By Accident I was then in London, when the Summons came unto me; I was timorous of Committees, being ever by some of them calumniated, upbraided, scorned, and derided. However I must and did appear; and let me never forget that great Affection and Care your self (Oh most Excellent and Learned Esq; Ashmole) shewed unto me at that Time. First, your Affection in going along with me all that Day; Secondly, your great Pains and Care, in speaking unto many worthy Members of that Committee your Acquaintance, that they should befriend me, and not permit me to be affronted, or have any disgraceful Language cast upon me; I must seriously acknowledge the Perswasions so prevailed with those generous Souls, that I conceive there was never more Civility used unto any than unto my self; and you know, there were no small Number of Parliament Men appeared, when they heard I was to be there.

Sir Robert Brooke spoke to this purpose:

Mr.

‘ Mr. Lilly, This Committee thought fit to sum‘ mon you to appear before them this Day, to ‘ know, if you can say any thing as to the Cause ‘ of the late Fire, or whether there might be any ‘ Design therein, you are called the rather hither;
 ‘ because in a Book of yours long since printed,
 ‘ you hinted some such Thing by one of your ‘ Hieroglyphicks. Unto which I replied,

May it please your Honours,

‘ After the Beheading of the late King, consi‘ dering that in the Three subsequent Years the ‘ Parliament acted nothing which concerned the ‘ Settlement of the Nation in Peace; and seeing
 ‘ the Generality of People dissatisfy’d, the Citi‘ zens of London discontented, the Soldiery prone
 ‘ to Mutiny, I was desirous, according to the best ‘ Knowledge God had given me, to make Enquiry ‘ by the Art I study’d, what might from that ‘ Time happen unto the Parliament and Na‘ tion in general: At last having satisfied my ‘ self as well as I could, and perfected my Judg‘ ment therein, I thought it most convenient to ‘ signify my Intentions and Conceptions thereof,
 ‘ in Forms, Shapes, Types, Hieroglyphicks, &c.
 ‘ without any Commentary, that so my Judgment ‘ might be concealed from the Vulgar, and made ‘ manifest only unto the Wise, I herein imitating
 ‘ the Examples of many wise Philosophers who ‘ had done the like.

‘ Sir Robert, saith one, Lilly is yet sub vestibulo.
 ‘ I proceeded further (said I) ‘ Having found,
 ‘ Sir, that the City of London should be sadly ‘ afflicted with a great Plague, and not long after
 ‘ with an exorbitant Fire, I framed these two ‘ Hieroglyphicks as represented in the Book, which ‘ in effect have proved very true.

Did you foresee the Year, said one?

F

‘ I did

' I did not, said I, or was desirous, of that I
' made no Scrutiny; I proceeded——

' Now, Sir, whether there was any Design of ' Burning the City, or any employed to that Pur' pose, I must deal ingeniously with you, that ' since the Fire, I have taken much Pains in the ' Search thereof, but cannot or could not give my ' self any the least Satisfaction therein, I con' clude, That it was the only Finger of God;
' but what Instruments he used thereunto, I am
' ignorant.

The Committee seemed well pleased with what I spoke, and dismissed me with great Civility.

Since which Time no memorable Action hath happened unto me, my Retirement impeding all Concourse unto me.

I have many Things more to communicate, which I shall do, as they offer themselves to Memory.

In Anno 1634, and 1635, I had much Familiarity with John Hegenius, Doctor of Physick, a Dutchman, an excellent Scholar and an able Physician, not meanly versed in Astrology; unto him, for his great Civility, I communicated the Art of framing Sigils, Lamens, &c. and the Use of the Mosaical Rods—: and we did create several Sigils to very good Purpose; I gave him the true Key thereof, viz. instructed him of their Forms, Characters, Words, and last of all, how to give them Vivification, and what Number or Numbers were appropriated to every Planet: Cum multis aliis in libris veterum Latentibus; aut perspicue non intellectis.

I was well acquainted with the Speculator of John a Windor, a Scrivener, sometimes living in Newbury. This Windor was Club-fisted, wrote with a Pen betwixt both his Hands; I have seen many Bonds and Bills wrote by him; He was much given to Debauchery, so that at some times the Dæmons would not appear to the Speculator; He would

would then Suffumigate; sometimes, to vex the Spirits, he would curse them, fumigate with Contraries. Upon his Examination before Sir Henry Wallop, Kt. which I have seen, he said, he once visited Dr. Dee in Mortlack; and out of a Book that lay in the Window, he copied out that Call which he used, when he invocated —

It was that—which near the Beginning of it hath these Words,

Per Virtutem illorum qui invocant nomen tuum, Hermeli — mitte nobis tres Angelos, &c.

Windor had many good Parts, but was a most leud Person; my Master Wright knew him well, and having Dealing in those Parts, made use of him as a Scrivener.

Oliver Withers, Servant to Sir H Wallop, brought up a Windor's Examination unto London, purposely for me to peruse. This Withers was Mr. Fiske's Scholar three Years more or less, to learn Astrology of him; but being never the wiser, Fiske brought him unto me, by shewing him but how to judge one Figure, his Eyes were opened; He made the Epistle before Dr. Neve's Book, now in Mr. Sander's Hands, was very learned in the Latin, Greek and Hebrew Tongues.

Having mention'd Dr. John Dee, I hold it not impertinent to speak something of him; but more especially of Edward Kelley his Speculator.

Dr. Dee himself was a Cambro Britain, educated in the University of Oxford, there took his Degree of Doctor; afterwards for many Years in Search of the profounder Studies, travelled into Foreign Parts; to be serious, he was Queen Elizabeth's Intelligencer, and had a Salary for his Maintenance from the Secretaries of State. He was a ready witted Man, quick of Apprehension, very Learned, and of great Judgment in the Latin and Greek Tongues. He was a very great Investigator of the more secret Hermetical Learning, a perfect Astronomer, a curious Astrologer, a serious Geometrician; to speak Truth, he was excellent in all Kinds of Learning.

With all this, he was the most ambitious Person living, and most desirous of Fame and Renown, and was never so well pleased as when he heard himself stiled, Most Excellent.

He was studious in Chymistry, and attained to good Perfection therein; but his Servant, or rather Companion, Kelley, out-went him, viz. about the Elixir or Philosopher's Stone; which neither Kelley or Dee attained by their own Labour and Industry. It was in this manner Kelley obtained it, as I had it related from an ancient Minister, who knew the Certainty thereof from an old English Merchant, Resident in Germany at what Time both Kelley and Dee were there.

Dee and Kelley being in the Confines of the Emperor's Dominions, in a City where resided many English Merchants, with whom they had much Familiarity; there happened an old Friar to come to Dr. Dee's Lodging. knocking at the Door; Dee peeped down the Stairs; Kelley (says he) Tell the old Man I am not at Home. Kelley did so; the Friar said, I will take another Time to wait on him. Some few Days after, he came again. Dee ordered Kelley, if it were the same Person, to deny him again. He did so; at which the Friar was very angry. 'Tell thy Master I came to speak with him and to do him good, because he is a great Scholar and Famous; but now tell him, he put forth a Book and dedicated it to the Emperor, it's called Monas Hieroglyphicas: He understands it not, I wrote it my self, I came to instruct him therein, and in some other more profound things. Do thou, Kelley, come along with me, I will make thee more famous than thy Master Dee.

Kelley

Kelley was very apprehensive of what the Friar delivered, and thereupon suddenly retired from Dee, and wholly applied unto the Friar, and of him either had the Elixir ready made, or the perfect Method of its Preparation and Making: The poor Friar lived a very short time after; whether he died a natural Death, or was otherwise poisoned or made away by Kelley, the Merchant who related this, did not certainly know.

How Kelley died afterwards at Prague, you well know; he was born at Worcester, had been an Apothecary: Not above 30 Years since he had a Sister lived in Worcester, who had some Gold made by her Brother's Projection.

Dr. Dee died at Mortlack in Surrey, very poor, enforced many times to sell some Book or other to buy his Dinner with, as Dr. Napier of Linford in Buckinghamshire oft related, who knew him very well.

I have read over his Book of Conference with Spirits, and thereby perceive many Weaknesses in the Manage of that way of Mosaical Learning; but I conceive, the Reason why he had not more plain Resolutions, and more to the Purpose, was, because Kelley was very vicious, unto whom the Angels were not obedient, or willingly did declare the Questions propounded; but I could give other Reasons, but those are not for Paper.

I was very familiar with one Sarah Skelhorn, who had been Speculatrix unto one Arthur Gauntlet about Gray's-Inn-Lane, a very lewd Fellow, professing Physick: This Sarah had a perfect Sight, and indeed the best Eyes for that Purpose I ever yet did see. Gauntlet's Books, after he was dead, were sold, after I had perused them, to my Scholar Humphreys; there were rare Notions in them. This Sarah lived a long time, even until her Death, with one Mrs. Stockman in the Isle of Purbeck, and died about sixteen Years since:

Her Mistress one time being desirous to accompany her Mother, the Lady Beconsfield, unto London, who lived twelve Miles from her Habitation, caused Sarah to inspect her Crystal, to see if she, viz. her Mother, was gone, yea or not; the Angels appeared, and shewed her Mother opening a Trunk, and taking out a red Waistcoat, whereby she perceived she was not gone; next Day she went to her Mother's, and there, as she entred the Chamber, she was opening a Trunk, and had a red Waistcoat in her Hand: Sarah told me oft, the Angels would for some Years follow her, and appear in every Room of the House, until she was weary of them.

This Sarah Skelhorn, her Call unto the Crystal began,

Oh ye good Angels, only and only, &c.

Ellen Evans, Daughter of my Tutor Evans, her Call unto the Crystal was this:

O Micol, O tu Micol, regina Pigmeorum veni, &c.

Sith I have related of the Queen of Fairies, I shall acquaint you, that it's not for every one, or every Person that these Angelical Creatures will appear unto, though they may say over the Call, over and over, or indeed is it given to very many Persons to endure their glorious Aspects; even very many have failed just at that present when they are ready to manifest themselves; even Persons otherwise of undaunted Spirits and firm Resolution, are herewith astonished, and tremble; as it happened not many Years since with us, a very sober discreet Person, of vertuous Life and Conversation, was beyond Measure desirous to see something in this Nature; he went with a Friend into my Hurst Wood, the Queen of Fairies was invocated, a gentle murmuring Wind came first; after that, amongst the Hedges, a smart Whirlwind; by and by a strong Blast of Wind blew upon the Face of the Friend, — and the Queen

Queen appearing in a most illustrious Glory. No more, I beseech you, (quoth the Friend) my Heart fails; I am not able to endure longer, nor was he; his black curling Hair rose up, and I believe a Bullrush would have beat him to the Ground; he was soundly laughed at, &c.

Sir Robert Holborn, Knight, brought once unto me (a) Gladwell of Suffolk, who had formerly had Sight and Conference with Uriel and Raphael, but lost them both by Carelessness; so that neither of them both would but rarely appear, and then presently be gone, resolving nothing; he would have given me 200*l.* to have assisted him for their Recovery, but I am no such Man.— Those glorious Creatures, if well commanded, and well observed, do teach the Master any thing he desires; Amant secreta, fugiunt aperta. The Fairies love the Southern Side of Hills, Mountains, Groves.— Neatness and Cleanliness in Apparel, a strict Diet, an upright Life, fervent Prayers unto God, conduce much to the Assistance of those who are curious these ways.

It hath been my Happiness to meet with many Rarities in my Time unexpectedly. I had a Sister lived in the Minories, in that very House where formerly had lived one Evans, not my Tutor, but another far exceeding him in Astrology, and all other occult Learning, question'd for his Life about 1612; I am sure it was when the present Earl of Manchester's Father was Lord Chief Justice of England; he was found guilty by a peevish Jury, but petitioning King James by a Greek Petition, as indeed he was an excellent Gre-

(a) Mr. Gilbert Wakering gave him his Berril when he died; it was of the Largeness of a good big Orange, set in Silver, with a Cross on the Top, and another on the Handle; and round about engraved the Names of these Angels, Raphael, Gabriel, Uriel.

sian; By my Saul, said King James, this Man shall not die; I think he is a better Grecian than any of my Bishops; so his Life was spared, &c. My Sister's Master when new Modelling the House, broke up a Window, under which were Evans's secret Manuscripts, and two Moulds in Brass; one of a Man, the other of a Woman; I bought the Moulds and (a) Book for five Shillings; the Secrets were wrote in an imperfect Greek Character; but after I found the Vowels, all the rest were presently clear enough.

You see, most worthy Sir, I write freely; it's out of the Sincerity of my Affection, many things wrote by me having been more fit for a Sepulture than a Book: But,

Quo Major est virorum præstantium, tui similium inopia; eo mihi charior est, & esse debet & amicitia tua: Quam quidem omnibus officiis, & studiis, quæ a summa benevolentia possunt, perpetuò colam: However, who study the Curiosities before-named, if they are not very well versed in Astrology, they shall rarely attain their desired Ends. There was, in the late Times of Trouble, one Mortlack, who pretended unto Speculations, had a Crystal, a Call of Queen Mab, one of the Queen of Fairies; he deluded many thereby; at last I was brought into his Company; he was desired to make Invocation, he did so; nothing appeared, or would; three or four times in my Company he was put upon to do the Work, but could not; at last he said he could do nothing as long as I was in presence; I at last shewed him his Error, but left him as I found him, a pretended Ignoramus.

I may seem to some to write incredibilia; be it so, but knowing unto whom, and for whose only sake, I do write them; I am much comforted therewith, well knowing you are the most knowing Man in these Curiosities of any now living in England; and therefore it is my Hope, these will be a Present well-becoming you to accept.

(a) From these MSS. he gained his first Knowledge.

Præclara omnia quam difficilia sint, his præsertim temporibus, (Celeberrimè Armiger,) non te fugit; and therefore I will acquaint you with one memorable Story related unto me by Mr. John Marr, an excellent Mathematician and Geometrician, whom I conceive you remember; He was Servant to King James and Charles the first.

At first, when the Lord Napier, or Marchiston made publick his Logarithms, Mr. Briggs, then Reader of the Astronomy Lecture at Gresham-College in London, was so surprized with Admiration of them, that he could have no Quietness in himself, untill he had seen that noble Person the Lord Marchiston, whose only Invention they were; he acquaints John Marr herewith, who went into Scotland before Mr. Briggs, purposely to be there when these Two so learned Persons should meet: Mr. Briggs appoints a certain Day when to meet at Edinborough, but failing thereof, the Lord Napier was doubtful he would not come: It happened one Day as John Marr and the Lord Napier were speaking of Mr. Briggs; Ah, John, saith Marchiston, Mr. Briggs will not now come; at the very Instant one knocks at the Gate; John Marr hastened down, and it proved Mr. Briggs, to his great Contentment; he brings Mr. Briggs up into my Lord's Chamber, where almost one Quarter of an Hour was spent, each beholding other almost with Admiration, before one Word was spoke, at last Mr. Briggs began.

‘ My Lord, I have undertaken this long Journey purposely to see your Person, and to know
 ‘ by what Engine of Wit or Ingenuity you came ‘ first to think of this most excellent Help unto ‘ Astronomy, viz. the Logarithms; but, My Lord,
 ‘ being by you found out, I wonder no Body else ‘ found

' found it out before, when now known, it is so
' easy. He was nobly entertain'd by the Lord Napier, and every Summer after that, during the Lord's being alive, this venerable Man, Mr. Briggs, went purposely into Scotland to visit him; Tempora nunc mutantur.

These two Persons were worthy Men in their Time; and yet the One, viz. Lord Marchiston, was a great Lover of Astrology, but Briggs the most Satyrical Man against it that hath been known; but the Reason hereof I conceive was, that Briggs was a severe Presbyterian, and wholly conversant with Persons of that Judgment;
whereas the Lord Marchiston was a general Scholar, and deeply read in all Divine and Human Histories; it's the same Marchiston who made that most serious and learned Exposition upon the Revelation of St. John; which is the best that ever yet appeared in the World.

Thus far proceeded Mr. William Lilly in setting down the Account of his Life, with some other things of note: Now shall be added something more which afterwards happened during his Retirement at his House at Hersham, until his Death.

He left London in the Year 1665, (as he hath before noted) and betook himself to the Study of Physick; in which, having arrived at a competent Degree of Knowledge, assisted by diligent Observation and Practice, he desired his old Friend Mr. Ashmole, to obtain of his Grace *Dr.
Sheldon*, then Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, a License for the Practice of Physick; which upon Application to his Grace, and producing a Testimonial [October 8. 1670.] under the Hands of two Physicians of the College in London, on *Mr.
Lilly's* behalf, he most readily granted, in the Manner following, viz.

Hereupon he began to practise more openly, and with good Success, and every Saturday rode to Kingston, where the poorer sort flockt to him from severall Parts, and received much Benefit by his Advice and Prescriptions, which he gave them freely, and without Money: From those that were more able, he now and then received a Shilling, and sometimes an Half-Crown, if they offered it to him, otherwise he demanded nothing; and, in truth, his Charity towards poor People was

was very great, no less than the Care and Pains he took in considering and weighing their particular Cases, and applying proper Remedies to their Infirmities, which gained him extraordinary Credit and Estimation.

He was of a strong Constitution, and continued generally in good Health, till the 16th of August 1674, when a violent Humour discovered it self in Red Spots all over his Body, with little Pushes in his Head. This, in the Winter [18 December] following, was seconded by a Distemper whereof he fell sick, and was let blood in the Left Foot, a little above the Ankle.

The 20th of December following, a Humour descended from his Head to his Left Side, from Eight a-Clock at Night till the next Morning, and then staying a while in the Calf of his Leg, at length descended towards his Toes, the Anguish whereof put him into a Fever. This Humour fixed in two Places on the top of his Left Foot (one in that where he was let blood two Days before) which (upon Application of Plegets) growing ripe, they were [28 Dec.] lanced by Mr. Agar of Kingston, his Apothecary (and no less a skilful Chirurgeon; after which he began to be at ease, his Fever abated, and within Five Months the Cure was perfected.

The 7th of November 1675, he was taken with a violent Fit of Vomiting for some Hours, to which a Fever succeeded, that continued Four Months: This brought his Body exceeding low, together with a Dimness in his Eyes, which after occasioned him to make use of Mr. Henry Coley, as his Amanuensis, to transcribe (from his Dictates) his Astrological Judgments for the Year 1677; but the Monthly Observations for that Year, were written with his own Hand some Time before, though by this Time he was grown very dim-sighted. His Judgments and Observations for the succeeding Years, till his Death, (so also for the Year 1682,) were all composed by his Directions, Mr. Coley coming to Herbham the beginning of every Summer, and stay'd there, till, by Conference with him, he had dispatched them for the Press; to whom, at these Opportunities, he communicated his way of Judgment, and other Astrological Arcana's.
G the

In the beginning of the Year 1681, he had a Flux, which weaken'd him much, yet after some Time his Strength encreas'd; but now his Sight was wholly taken from him, not having any Glimmering as formerly.

He had dwelt many Years at Herbham, where his Charity and Kindness to his poor Neighbours was always great and hearty; and the 30th of May 1681, towards the Evening, a dead Palsy began to seize his Left Side. The second of June, towards Evening, he took his Bed, and then his Tengue began to falter. The next Day he became very dull and heavy; sometimes his Senses began to fail him: Henceforward he took little or nothing, for his Larinx swell'd, and that impeded his Swallowing.

The Fourth of June, Mr. Ashmole went to visit him, and found he knew him, but spake little, and some of that scarce intelligible; for the Palsy began now to seize upon his Tongue.

The Eighth of June he lay in a great Agony, in-somuch that the Sweat followed Drop after Drop, which he bore with wonderful Courage and Patience (as indeed he did all his Sickneis) without Complaint; and about Three a-Clock the next Morning, he died, without any Shew of Trouble or Pangs: Immediately before his Breath went from him, he sneezed three times.

He had often, in his Life-time, desired Mr. Ashmole to take care of his Funeral, and now his Widow desired the same; whereupon Mr. Ashmole obtain'd tain'd Leave from Sir Matthew Andrews (who had the Parsonage of Walton) to bury him in the Chancel of that Church.

The 10th of June, his Coarse was brought thither, and received by the Minister (in his Surplice) at the Litch-Gates, who, passing before the Body into the Church, read the first Part of the Office for the Burial of the Dead. In the Reading-Desk he said all the Evening-Service, and after performed the rest of the Office (as established by Law) in the Chancel, at the Interment, which was about Eight a-Clock in the Evening, on the Left Side of the Communion-Table, Mr. Ashmole assisting at the laying him in his Grave, whereon afterwards [9 July 1681.] he placed a fair black Marble Stone, (which cost him 6*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*) with this Inscription following.

Shortly after his Death, Mr. Asbmole bought his Library of Books of Mrs. Ruth Lilly (his Widow and Executrix) for 50 l. he having oft times, in his Life-time, express'd, that if Mr. Asbmole would give that Sum, he should have them.

The following Epitaphs (Latin and English) were made by George Smalridge, then a Scholar at Westminster, after Student of Christ-Church in Oxford.

*In Mortem Viri Doctissimi Domini GULIELMI
LILLY, Astrologi, nuper defuncti.*

Occidit atque suis annalibus addidit atram
Astrologus, quâ non tristior ulla, diem
Pone triumphales, lugubris Luna, quadrigas ;
Sol maestum piceâ nube reconde caput.
Illum, qui Phæbi scripsit, Phæbesq; labores Eclipsin docuit Stella maligna pati.
Invidia Astrorum cecidit, qui Sidera rexit
Tanta erat in notas scandere cura domos.
Quod vidit, visum cupiit, potiturq; cupito
Cælo, & Sidereo fulget in orbe decus.
Scilicet hoc nobis prædixit ab ane Cometa,
Et fati emicuit nuncia Stella tui
Fallentem vidi faciem gemuiq; videndo
Illa fuit vati mortis imago suo,
Civilis timuere alii primordia belli
Fejunam metuit plebs stupefata famem
Non tantos tulerat bellumve fameseve dolores:
Auspiciis essent hæc relevanda tuis.
In cautam subitus plebem nunc opprimat ensis,
Securos fati mors violenta trahat.
Nemo est qui videat moneatq; avertere fatum,
Ars jacet in Domini funera mersa sui
Solus nature reservare arcana solebat,
Solus & ambigui solvere jura poti.

*Lustrâsti erantes benè finâ mente Planetas
 Conspectum latuit stellata nulla tuum
 Defessos oculos pensârunt lumina mentis
 Firesias oculis, mentibus Argus eras.
 Cernere, Firesia, poteras ventura, sed, Arge,
 In fatum haud poteras sat vigil esse tuum
 Sed vivit nomen semper cum sole vigebit,
 Immemor Astrologi non erit ulla dies
 Saecula canent laudes, quas si percurrere cones,
 Arte opus est, Stellas quâ numerare soles
 Hæreat hoc carmen cinerum custodibus urnis, Hospes quod spargens marmora rore legat.
 " Hic situs est, dignus nunquam cecidisse Propheta ;
 " Fatorum interpretes fata inopina subit.
 " Versari aethereo dum vixit in orbe solebat :
 " Nunc humilem jactat Terra superba virum.
 " Sed Cælum metitur adhuc resupinus in urnâ
 " Vertitur in solitos palpebra clausa polos.
 " Haic busto invigilant solenni lampade Musæ,
 " Perpetuo nubes imbre sepulchra rigant.
 " Ille oculis movit distantia Sidera nostris,
 " Illam amota oculis traxit ad astra Deus.*

An ELEGY upon the Death of WILLIAM
 LILLY the Astrologer.

O UR Prophet's gone ; no longer may our Ears (Spheres.
 Be charm'd with Musick of th' harmonious
 Let Sun and Moon withdraw, leave gloomy Night
 To shew their Nuncio's Fate, who gave more Light
 To th' erring World, than all the feeble Rays
 Of Sun or Moon ; taught us to know those Days
 Bright Titan makes, followed the hasty Sun (Moon,
 Through all his Circuits, knew th' unconstant
 And more unconstant Ebbings of the Flood ;
 And what is most uncertain, th' factious Brood, Flowing.

Flowing in civil Broils, by the Heavens could date
The Flux and Reflux of our dubious State.

He saw the Eclipse of Sun, and Change of Moon
He saw, but seeing would not shun his own:

Eclips'd he was, that he might shine more bright,
And only chang'd to give a fuller Light.

He having view'd the Sky, and glorious Train
Of gilded Stars, scorn'd longer to remain

In Earthly Prisons, could he a Village love,
Whom the Twelve Houses waited for above?

The grateful Stars a heavenly Mansion gave T' his heavenly Soul, nor could he live a Slave

To Mortal Passions, whose Immortal Mind,
Whilst here on Earth, was not to Earth confin'd.

He must be gone, the Stars had so decreed;
As he of them, so they of him, had need.

This Message 'twas the Blazing Comet brought;
I saw the pale-fac'd Star, and seeing thought

(For we could guess, but only LILLY knew)
It did some glorious Hero's Fall foreshew:

A Hero's fall'n, whose Death, more than a War,
Or Fire, deserv'd a Comet, th' obsequious Star,

Could do no less than his sad Fate unfold,
Who had their Risings, and their Settings told.

Some thought a Plague, and some a Famine near; (fear:

Some Wars from France, some Fires at Home did
Nor did they fear too much, scarce kinder Fate,

But Plague of Plagues befell th' unhappy State
When LILLY died. Now Swords may safely come

From France or Rome, Fanaticks plot at home.
Now an unseen, and unexpected Hand,

By Guidance of ill Stars, may hurt our Land;
Unsafe, because secure, there's none to show

How England may avert the fatal Blow.
He's dead, whose Death the weeping Clouds deplore;

I wish we did not owe to him that Show'r.

Which

Which long expected was, and might have still Expected been, had not our Nations Ill
Drawn from the Heavens a Sympathetick Fear,
England hath cause a second Drought to fear.
We have no second LILLY, who may die,
And by his Death may make the Heavens cry,
Then let your Annals, Coley, want this Day,
Think every Year Leap-Year; or if 't must stay, Cloath it in Black, let a sad Note stand by,
And stigmatize it to Posterity.

Here follows the Copy of an Indictment filed against Mr. Lilly, for which see Page 71 of his Life.

THE Jurors for the Lord Protector of the Common Wealth of England, Scotland and Ireland, &c. upon their Oaths do present, That William Lilly, late of the Parish of St. Clements Danes, in the County of Middlesex, Gent. not having the Fear of God before his Eyes, but being moved and seduced by the Instigation of the Devil, the 10th Day of July, in the Year of our Lord, 1654, at the Parish aforesaid, in the County aforesaid, wickedly, unlawfully and deceitfully, did take upon him, the said William Lilly, by Inchantment, Charm and Sorcery, to tell and declare to one Anne East, the Wife of Alexander East, where Ten Waistcoats, of the Value of five Pounds, of the Goods and Chattels of the said Alexander East, then lately before lost and stolen from the said Alexander East, should be found and become; and Two Shillings and Sixpence in Monies, numbred of the Monies of the said Alexander, from the said Anne East, then and there unlawfully and deceitfully, he, the said William Lilly, did take, receive, and had to tell and declare to her the said Anne, where the said Goods, so lost and stolen as aforesaid, should be found

found and become ; And also that he, the said William Lilly, on the said Tenth Day of July, in the Year of our Lord, 1654, and divers other Days and Times, as well before as afterwards, at the said Parish aforesaid, in the County aforesaid, unlawfully and deceitfully did take upon him, the said William Lilly, by Enchantment, Charm and Sorcery, to tell and declare to divers other Persons, to the said Jurors, yet unknown, where divers Goods, Chattels and Things of the said Persons yet unknown, there lately before lost and stolen from the said Persons yet unknown, shou'd be found and become ; and divers Sums of Monies of the said Persons yet unknown, then and there unlawfully and deceitfully, he the said William Lilly did take, receive, and had to tell and declare to the said Persons yet unknown, where their Goods, Chattels and Things, so lost and stolen, as aforesaid, should be found and become in Contempt of the Laws of England, to the great Damage and Deceit of the said Alexander and Anne, and of the said other Persons yet unknown, to the evil and pernicious Example of all others in the like Case offending, against the Form of the Statute in this Case made and provided, and against the publick Peace, &c.
