

M0006445: Advertisement for an essay on venereal disease, 1766

Publication/Creation

16 November 1939

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/vnqwynej>

License and attribution

Wellcome Library; GB.

This work has been identified as being free of known restrictions under copyright law, including all related and neighbouring rights and is being made available under the Creative Commons, Public Domain Mark.

You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, without asking permission.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

An Introduction to inform the Public, that the under-mentioned Discourse is delivered in a plain, easy, and familiar Manner, being principally intended for the Perusal of such Persons as may now be afflicted, or what is worse, have been ill cured of the Disorder therein treated on, and further that they may ascertain with some Certainty, whether any remains of the Poison is still lurking in the Blood, or whether left labouring under the baneful Effects of strong Mercurial Medicines. Let him well observe the Opinion of the ingenious Dr. Peter Shaw, Physician to his late Majesty, viz. "That frequently flying
" Pains, Head-achs, and other Symptoms occasioned
" either by the Mercury or the Relicks of the Dis-
" temper, often continued after a supposed Cure of
" the Infection.

Just published, Price 2s. 6d.

Dedicated to Mr. POTT, senior Surgeon of St.
Bartholomew's Hospital,

A New Essay on the VENE- REAL DISEASE, and Method of CURE.

By J. BECKET, M.D. and Man Midwife.

In this Work, the Necessity for deviating from the present Mode of Practice, is candidly considered, and reasonably accounted for. The Reader is also informed of a new discovered Medicine, and its comparative Excellence, with all other Remedies, is fairly examined and explained. This Medicine is an Essence, a few Drops of which is a Dose in a Glass of Water; and in slight Cases in eight or ten Days the Cure is effected without the least Inconveniency to the Patient.

It is to be had of Mr. Williams, Bookseller, next to the Mitre Tavern in Fleet-street; at Mr. Dixwell's, Printer, in St. Martin's Lane; and at the Doctor's House in Red Lion-square, in Bottles at 3 s. and 5 s. A Label is on the Bottle signed by him in Writing; also full Directions, with Rules for Diet and Exercise, that the Patient may conduct himself through the Cure, with perfect Secrecy: However, if it requires it, the Doctor will give proper Advice in all Cases.

§ • An Abstract of the above Book is given gratis all the Places of Sale.

1766