IV. Ex e. utrinque signentur sex unciae in g. & h. totidemque ex f. in i. & k. conjungendo lineis g. & i. h. & k. quæ latitudinem trunci definiant.

V. Capias circino distantiam xij. unciarum, eamque descendendo ex e. in l. virgula signes, pro capite atque collo.

VI. Ex l. in m. pro pectore nota aliam virgulam, ita ut inter se octonis unciis distent.

VII. Ex m. in n. aliam pro umbilico, & ex n. in o. aliam similis cum pectore distantiae,

VIII. Ex o. in p. mensura octodecim uncias profemore, reliquum tibia cum pede occupabit.

IX. Per l. ducito lineam q. r. parallelam lineæ a.c.

X. Huic ad distantiam duarum unciarum subducito parallelam aliam s. t. quibus duabus brachia circumscribantur.

XI. Ex q. & r. versus corpus, octo pones uncias in u. & x. pro manib⁹. Inde pro cubitis decem in y. & z. remanetque spatium lacertorum usque ad thoracem.

Ita absoluta erit ichnographia humani corporis antica, præcipua mensurandorum membrorū loca designans, cuius cellulis postea muscularum tori aptis linearum ductibus inscribi, adumbratiique possunt. Faciei, manuum, ac pedum elaboratio accuratior una cum suis lineolis in superioribus jam proposita fuit, quorsum nos remittimus. Interim contemplare effigiem hominis symmetri anticam.

Posticam hominis ichnographiam conficies, eadem.
