

M0012428: Wellcome Historical Medical Museum exhibition: "British medicine and the Continent, 1600-1850": section I

Publication/Creation

April 1952

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/f2fgfnu9>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution license.

This licence permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

THE DAWN OF THE 17th CENTURY
BRITAIN

This section of the display features a variety of historical items. At the top left is a coat of arms with a crown. Below it is a portrait of a woman. The central area is dominated by several surgical instruments, including a curved knife, a straight knife, a saw, and a pair of forceps. To the right of these instruments are several open books, some containing anatomical diagrams and text. At the bottom left, there is a large anatomical diagram of a human body, and next to it is a book with the word "ANATOMIA" visible on its page. Other items include a small portrait of a woman and various printed documents.

This section of the display features a variety of historical items. At the top left is a portrait of a man. To its right is another portrait of a man. Below these are several architectural drawings of buildings, including a large hall and a smaller structure. The central area contains several open books, some with text and some with illustrations. To the right of these books is a small jar or container. At the bottom right, there is a book with a decorative cover and a small jar. Other items include a portrait of a man and various printed documents.