

M0013910: Chemical symbols from Woodall: Surgeon's Mate, 1639

Publication/Creation

March 1955

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/xq5tpayr>

License and attribution

This work has been identified as being free of known restrictions under copyright law, including all related and neighbouring rights and is being made available under the Creative Commons, Public Domain Mark.

You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, without asking permission.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

|                   |                                                                                     |                  |                                                                                                           |
|-------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Terra.            |    | Earth            | Commonly taken for potters earth to make Lute of.                                                         |
| Tigillum.         |    | A melting pot    | A pot wherewith Gold-smiths and other Artifts use to melt metals or medicines in, called also a Crucible. |
| Talcum.           |    | Talke            | This minerall is scarce well known yet, the oyle thereof is much extolled for beautifying the skinne.     |
| Tutia.            |    | Tutty            | A medicine commonly knowne, and is made of the scum of Copper, or of Copper by combustion.                |
| Tartarus.         |    | Argall           | Is the Lees of wine dried, which makes many profitable medicines, artificially prepared.                  |
| Tumores.          |   | Tumors           | And also any Apoftum or swelling, wheresoever in mans body.                                               |
| Turbith Minerall. |  | Turbith Minerall | This with some additaments artificiall, well prepared, is precious in the cure of the French pox.         |

|            |                                                                                     |          |                                                                                                                                            |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Vlcus.     |  | An Ulcer | This is the ancient Character for an Ulcer, & some Authors, have used the same for a wound.                                                |
| Vitriolum. |  | Coppras  | It is best which is made of Copper.                                                                                                        |
| Vitrum.    |  | Glasse   | It is used for a Glasse Still, and also for any other kinde of glasse.                                                                     |
| Vrina.     |  | Vrine    | Mans urine or childrens urine, it is commonly used in Alchymie, and some use it in fomentations, and otherwise in Chirurgery and Physicke. |